

Verdict Against C. P. R.

OTTAWA, Oct. 35.-A total of $48,712 in damage suits against the C. P. R. was awarded in the Hull court today at the trial of a case which began arising out of the wreck of the Pontiac train at Hull in March last. The last of the series of actions was concluded today when Clayton Chubb was given a verdict for $60,000. Cases were disposed of in all three weeks of the trial. The awards ranged from $1,000 to $60,000. The lowest: P. Royce, $1,000; J. W. G. $2,902; A. Royce, $12,712; A. G. $16,835; Clayton Chubb, $60,000. C. P. R. has indicated that it will appeal the verdict in some cases.

KATMAI MAY BE ERUPTING AGAIN

being made to communicate with her by wireless to ascertain conditions there. The revenue cutter Manning was at Kodiak during the eruption last summer, and afforded protection to the people who were driven from their homes by the ash and smoke. The presence of the Navy at this time is reassuring, as the big collier can care for the people if assistance is needed.

No reports have been received from other points concerning the new outbreak of Katmai, and F. B. Tracey, general agent of the Alaska Steamship Company, who received the report from the Dora, has asked for further particulars. A few days ago the steamship Victoria, bound from Seattle to Nome, reported by wireless that she passed through a large quantity of pumice stone floats on the water in the vicinity of Unimak Pass. At the time it was believed that the debris came from Mount Shishaldin, on Unimak Island, but it is now thought that the float observed by the Victoria came from Katmai, although old Shishaldin, which frequently has been in eruption, may be spouting, too.

that if disaster overtakes us we can find refuge with England. We claim to be stalwart Canadians and to make up a powerful part of the British nation. If consistent, let us not allow an hour to go by until we make ample provision to help out the efficient imperial navy. I hope Premier Borden will come out with a strong naval policy, and that Canada will respond to a man.

ALLIES FORCE THE TURKS BACK

In Thrace, is the struggle between the Servians and Turks in the Kumanova region. Constantinople at last admits the success of the Servian army. The Servians yesterday captured two towns, Vuchitza and Gilan, on the road between Mitrovica and Vranja.

Attack on Soutari

The Montegrins are pressing their attack on Soutari. It is reported that the Turkish garrison at Soutari has retired to the heights of Zadriana, south of the town. This is interpreted to mean a preparation to evacuate Soutari. The Greeks are continuing their northward march and today occupied Komsani, about 13 miles northwest of the town of Servia.

Fall of Kirk-Kiliseh

The accounts of the fall of Kirk-Kiliseh received admit that the Turks fought doggedly, repeatedly repulsing the Bulgarians, but, however, always returned to the attack. The reports say that the Bulgarians displayed praiseworthy endurance in the hand-to-hand fighting in the vineyards to the north of town, which began at dawn of Wednesday night's attack by the artillery which had set fire to the town.

It is now stated that it was Ahmed, a son of Mahomed Muhktarf Pasha, commander of the Turkish forces at Kirk-Kiliseh, and not a son of Ghazi Muhktarf Pasha, the grand vizier, who was captured. It is also stated that the Turks fled south and east, pursued by the Bulgarians, fighting rear-guard actions as far as Viza on the east coast, and Babenski on the south.

The Turkish losses were over 5,000 killed and 2,000 taken prisoners. The prisoners gave the impression that the fortress of Kirk-Kiliseh was on short rations.

King Ferdinand has sent a stirring message to the troops, praising the dash and gallantry they exhibited in their attack on Kirk-Kiliseh.

Lack of Preparation

Dispatches from Vienna, St. Petersburg and other European capitals in the London morning papers ascribe the Turkish defeat to lack of proper preparations in the organization of the troops and the absence of necessary supplies and food.

The Daily Telegraph's Constantinople correspondent, writing under date of October 20, describes the transport difficulties which have resulted, he says, in the army in Thrace being short of all necessities and without which, he declares, it is impossible to commence a forward movement on a large scale. He estimates that it will be a fortnight before the commissariat will permit the army in Thrace to take the offensive.

The Balkan Alliance

The league of the Balkan states is based on a formal written alliance, according to a dispatch from Vienna. When this is made public, it is said, it will reveal the territorial claims of the Balkan nations. The secret treaty defines the zones of influence of the respective countries in Albania and Macedonia, and provides for a combination tariff and postal union of the Balkan nations.

The King of Greece, according to

The Outlook, will become president of the alliance, on the nomination of King Nicholas of Montenegro. The religious rivalry of Balkan Christians will be ended by uniting the Orthodox church of Greece, Bulgaria, Servia and Montenegro, as in ancient times, under the patriarch of Constantinople, who is head of the Greek church. The churches will retain their national rituals and languages.

The extension of Servia through Bosnia to the Adriatic Sea, will form a part of the scheme, which, it is expected, Austria will strongly resist.

Bulgarian Successes

SOFIA, Oct. 25.—The situation around Adrianople is unchanged. In the fighting at Yuruk the Turks are reported to have lost about 500 men killed and 500 prisoners, and, in addition, have had taken from them three quick-firing guns and twelve ammunition wagons.

At Kirdchall, forty miles west of Adrianople, the Bulgarians, who are pressing their pursuit without intermission, seized the depot, containing 1,000,000 cartridges, 40 cases of shells and large stores of food.

In the Razlog district Bulgarians are masters of the upper reaches of the Mesta river. In this district, near Mahomli, a Turkish infantry regiment has been annihilated and a battalion of Turkish regulars and irregulars is surrounded in the town by Bulgarian troops.

MORE

Servians Press Turks

BELGRADE, Servia, Oct. 25.—Telegrams received here from Priština, ten miles west of the Servian frontier, in the Turkish province of Kosovo, which was captured on Wednesday by Servians, say the Mohammedan Arnauts and Turkish troops are retreating southward followed by the Servians, who are pressing their pursuit without intermission.

The entry of Priština by the Servian advance guard was preceded by desperate fighting at Teresh Pasha and other positions around the town.

Hand-to-Hand Fighting

VRANJA, Servia, Oct. 25.—An incident of the battle which resulted in the capture of Kumanova by the Servians indicates the desperate character of the conflict.

A company of Servian infantry charged the Turks with the bayonet, and the hand-to-hand struggle developed into individual combat in which many of the Servians dropped their rifles and drew knives, with which they hacked and slashed one another.

It is reported that in the Turkish ranks the words of command given by the officers were in German.

Greeks Have Success

ATHENS, Oct. 25.—The Greeks are about to occupy Strivina, on the road to Janina, after defeating the Turks in three days' hard fighting.

ORIGIN OF LIFE IN LABORATORY

the trigger puller that makes the gunpowder work. It seems only to be an affair of atoms, but there is possibly much more in it than is imagined. Life is probably something altogether, a control, not a force, but something that directs force and incidentally controls matter. Professor Lodge thus defined the functions of life:

"What life has to do is to control the spontaneous disintegration of protoplasmic cells, to regulate the activity of the brain, and the brain, in turn, to suspend the disintegration of organic material until some appointed time and then direct it along a determined channel. That is all a sportsman does with the energy of gunpowder. He withholds the explosion until the appointed time, then liberates it in a definite direction. To say that he propels a projectile, thereby confining it with the conservation of energy, is absurd. This process of timing and aiming is typical of the control of life throughout."

"The manner and method whereby life obtains this control, we do not as yet know, but those who say that life cannot guide material processes, unless life itself is not a form of energy (which is false—man is not a form of energy, and those who hold that life cannot act at all unless energy is at its disposal, which is certainly true) forget the spontaneous activity of complex organized molecules, and forget the disintegration manifested by radio-activity. Energy is not a guiding or controlling entity at all. It is a thing to be guided. Energy by itself is as blind and blundering as a house afire or a driverless motor car."

Claims of Squatters

CHASE, B. C., Oct. 25.—Mr. S. Maher, the commissioner of the department of the Interior, is investigating conditions of land settlement in the railway belt of this province with a view to formulating a new and more satisfactory policy for the administration of those lands, he has been including into the claims of squatters on timber berths. Accompanied by representatives of the Chase board of trade, he went over the timber limits of the Adams River Lumber Company, and then went with J. E. Hild, of the Arrow Lakes Lumber Company to appraise the claims of squatters on the lands held by that firm. Where there is little timber standing on the disputed quarter sections it is probable that the squatters' claims will be allowed.

STORM IN PACIFIC

Boatwain of R.M. Sonoma Washed Overboard—Damage to the Wilhelmina

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—Joseph Watson Ingalls, boatwain of the liner Sonoma, en route to Australia, was washed overboard, and drowned when a huge wave broke over the ship's bow in the gale met by the vessel 650 miles out yesterday. Information was brought today by the Oceanic liner Sierra, which arrived from Honolulu. The Sierra also picked up a wireless message which was received here, reporting that considerable damage had been done to the Matson liner Wilhelmina, which is bound for Honolulu.

Wireless messages were received here last night from both vessels, but gave only meagre accounts of the storm. The Sierra could not establish satisfactory communication with either ship, but the last message, received late last night from the Sonoma, said the wind was moderating.

The Sonoma sailed from this port on Tuesday carrying more than 100 passengers. The Wilhelmina sailed on Wednesday with 100 passenger and several thousand tons of general cargo.

C.P.R. LABOR DISPUTE

Government Refuses to Grant a Board of Conciliation

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 25.—The labor department has refused to grant a board of conciliation in the dispute between the C. P. R. and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, which controls five thousand men in the service of the railway. A communication to this effect has been sent President Mosher of the Brotherhood by the minister of labor. This decision, the representative of the men states, will not be accepted as final and further representations will be made to the department. The company has so far refused to treat with the men as a union.

Beautifying Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 25.—The park commissioners have adopted the fourth plan for the improvement of Coal harbor presented by Mr. Thomas Mawson, the English landscape expert. This calls for a circular pond in the centre of the area in question, in the centre of which it is proposed to erect a statue to the memory of Captain Cook or Captain Vancouver. Around this pond would be a boulevard about which 25,000 people could move with ease, while on any great occasion 100,000 spectators could obtain an excellent view of the proceedings. This scheme also provides for depositing the visitors by street car near the heart of the park. A museum would mark the end of the Georgia axis, being supported on the cross axis by the Kurall to the east and the stadium to the west. Between the museum and the Kurall it is proposed to set out an ornamental garden and between the museum and stadium there would be a children's playground with a rest house and a library. The scheme has been sent to the city council for approval and acceptance.

Dynamite Barge Founders

SELKIRK, Man., Oct. 25.—The barge which left here in tow of the Minerva, five days ago for the north end of the lake, sunk at Big Sandy yesterday. No lives were lost, but the barge's cargo consisting of two cars of dynamite and one car of powder, was the property of McMillan Brothers, contractors, and was intended for the Hudson Bay railway construction. Big Sandy is two hundred miles north. No explanation of the sinking is given except that the barge became waterlogged.

Confesses to Theft

MANISTEE, Mich., Oct. 25.—Knowing that bank examiners were about to discover a shortage in his accounts, Assistant Cashier John W. Sibbon, of the First National Bank of this city, yesterday confessed that he had stolen $4,300 of the bank's money. The directors at once made up the full amount of the shortage and Sibbon was placed under arrest. Sibbon said he began taking the money in 1908 and had lost it in speculation. He had taken nothing during the last three years and by manipulation his books had been able to conceal his pecuniary up to this time.

Cochrane's ex-Police Chief

COCHRANE, Ont., Oct. 25.—Judge Valin, of North Bay, today exonerated ex-Chief of Police J. R. Jamieson, on charges of accepting bribes, and neglect of duty, but found that the acts of the chief were not above criticism and that the system obtaining in the town deserves severe condemnation. While Jamieson has been cleared of the charges he will not return to his duties, the town having advertised for another man.

Takes Carbolic Acid

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Rochford Nelson, 43 years of age, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid, while temporarily insane. Mrs. Nelson had been in attendance on Mrs. E. Ball, who has been ill and about 5 o'clock she rushed into Mrs. Ball's room and attempted to force her to take the poison. Mrs. Ball ran from the house and alarmed the neighbors who returned to find that Mrs. Nelson had herself taken a dose and had died shortly afterwards.

Mon. F. W. G. Haultain

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 25.—No official announcement of the appointment of Hon. F. W. G. Haultain as chief justice of the supreme court of Saskatchewan, has yet been made but it is expected a formal order-in-council will be submitted to His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught for his signature. There is absolutely no doubt the appointment will go to Mr. Haultain.

Appointed to Harvard Chair

TRENTON, Ont., Oct. 25.—R. A. Daly, formerly of Nanaimo, Ontario, has been appointed head of the Geographical Department of Harvard University, filling the Sturgis Hooper chair in succession to Professor Davis. Mr. Daly was geologist for the Canadian government from 1902 to 1907, then became professor of physiology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

TOURISTS COMPLAIN ABOUT RESTRICTIONS

Explanation of System Regulating United States Motor Traffic Here Indicates the Feebleness of Protest Made

Complaint has recently been made to the Victoria Board of Trade in an indirect manner against the alleged restrictions imposed by this country upon American tourists traveling in their motor cars, and not unnaturally, being conversant with the prevailing conditions, the board is at a loss to understand the difficulty. From several sources of late statements to the same effect have filtered into the office of the board of trade, never with any definite attachment, but always reflecting the same aggrieved insinuation.

How much easier the passport into Canada could be made by the government for the American motor tourist the board of trade is at a loss to understand, unless it was decided to hand the country over carte blanche to them. Permits, limited or extended, according to the desires of the visitor, are to be had for the asking.

It is three years since the board of trade of this city responded to the clamorous American motor tourists' plea that something should be done to facilitate their peregrinations through this part of the country; they approached the government on the subject and after an exchange of communications the arrangement which at present exists was decided upon, and the act amended so as to incorporate the alteration. That alteration, as everybody who owns a motor car knows, renders Canada absolutely free to the American tourist, the restrictions being merely nominal.

System of Permits

Under the present system of admission there are two kinds of permits issued, the first being for tourists who intend to make a brief stay, not more than seven days, the numeral prescribing the period of the permit's validity; and the second being valid for six months. In the case of the second, or extended permit, it is necessary for the tourist, on entering the country, to deposit the sum of $25 in cash and a bond to the value of the car, both of which are returned to him on leaving within the time limit of six months. Of course it is possible to have the six months split up into sections so as to accommodate the convenience of tourists, and as a matter of fact this form of permit is largely taken advantage of.

During the past summer there have been a tremendous number of American tourists visiting British Columbia, and especially Vancouver Island, in this way, and not until now has any complaint against the system been offered. The improvement of the island roads, which has been carried on all year by the public works department of the provincial government, the extension of existing roads and the creation of altogether new ones, has opened up a vista of sight-seeing possibilities which the leisured American tourist, upon with avidity and enthusiasm.

Traffic Will Increase

In discussing the situation with the secretary of the board of trade, he requested that if anyone could suggest an improvement or a reasonable facilitation of the existing procedure in connection with this form of traffic, he would be only too glad to place it before the council of the board, to see if any action could be brought to bear upon it. He also pointed out that the restrictions referred to applied only to tourists. For the manufacturers, of course, there is an entirely different type of hazard to negotiate have entering Canada to compete with the home product. He pointed out too, that even residents of this city or country could not take advantage of the system by going over to the United States and purchasing a cheap car there, and then returning home. And, by the same token, sample cars manufactured in the United States cannot come under the operation of this plan.

With the road construction on the island proceeding apace, the next season promises to break all records in respect to the number of tourists visiting this part of the country, and it is to be expected that the number of cars traversing the island highways will show a corresponding increase. This sort of traffic is welcomed, and consequently the board of trade of Victoria is concerned to know how, if possible, it can be facilitated.

HISTORIC STRUCTURE

Old Bastion at Nanaimo an Unfailing Source of Interest to All Visitors to City

It is just a year since the Nanaimo post of native sons installed a register book in the old historic Bastion, and during that period no less than eleven hundred visitors have registered their names and addresses. As might be expected, the book contains the names of persons in every walk in life and from almost every country under the sun, and is a most interesting book to peruse.

The Bastion, one of the antique sights that visitors cannot overlook, one of the very few landmarks, and the most prominent remaining at Nanaimo, of the period when the Hudson's Bay Company held manorial rights over the whole of Vancouver Island, was erected in 1813—completed in June of that year, flagpole raised, and the "H. B. C." flag then unfurled to the breeze. It was built by Leon Labine and Jean Baptiste Fortier, who, with assistants, had been employed upon similar structures at Port Victoria and Port Rupert. Labine and Fortier were French Canadians, both splendid axmen. They got out the material for nearly all the hewn-log buildings at Colville Town, as Nanaimo, soon after being settled by the whites, was called.

Few visitors to Nanaimo fail to pay a visit to the Bastion; Grand Chief Factor Jerry McGill being always ready to show tourists through the historic structure and relate incidents in connection with its early history.

THE CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

The Conservative Convention at Revelstoke was an unqualified success. Not only was it attended by a fine representative body of delegates, but the tone of the gathering was excellent and the speeches were of exceptional interest and value. This could hardly be otherwise, for the record of the party in this province is one that will bear the closest examination. Great things have been accomplished. We have had a progressive business-like administration, and a series of performances that more than justified the promises made by the Premier and those who have acted with him during his long term of office.

The nature of the criticisms against the administration afford eloquent testimony to the success of its policy. That criticism never rises above the level of personal abuse. No matter what the question may be in connection with which the name of the Premier or of any of his associates arises, it is made the occasion for miserable insinuations or gross attacks. We should not like to claim that the administration has presented a flawless policy and an executive record that has been free from errors. This never could and probably never can be claimed in regard to any ministry; but the opponents of the government have never been able to point out any such lapses, and have endeavored to supply the lack of grounds of attack by pouring out a steady stream of abuse.

That such tactics have utterly failed to weaken the hold which the government has upon the confidence of the people of British Columbia is abundantly established by the very great success of the late Convention. Sir Richard McBride and his colleagues were never so strongly entrenched in the esteem and confidence of the people of the province as they are today.

THE BURNED AREA

The announcement which we make this morning that a $1,000,000 building is to be erected on the burned area bounded by Government, View, and Broad streets, makes for a highly interesting phase in the city's development. The structure will be ten stories in height and will be up-to-date in every detail. Its erection will mean an addition of a very imposing character to the city's architecture, as, with the exception of the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel, it will be the most costly building yet put up here.

The credit for the successful issue of the negotiations whereby this desirable result has been brought about belongs very largely to Mr. Thomas Hooper. This gentleman has been in England for some time past and has only just returned to the city. During his absence he has worked indefatigably in bringing the arrangements to a head and the citizens generally will congratulate him on having been instrumental in interesting so much capital in the future of Victoria.

SEYMOUR NARROWS

It has been suggested by some eastern people that we should postpone any agitation for all-rail connection with the Mainland until things have further developed. We are asked to wait and see if the effect of the Panama Canal is going to be what is anticipated before we ask for a new outlet to the sea and a new line of communication between this great island and the Mainland. This position has not been taken by anyone in a position of authority, but in talking the subject over with people from the eastern provinces, it is not infrequently advanced. If the desirability of the proposed connection depended upon the utility of the Canal, there might be something in the argument; but the necessity of all-rail connection was recognized by competent authorities long before the cutting of the Isthmus was brought within the range of possibility. Indeed, in its arguments for the railway, The Colonist has laid only very very little stress upon the possible canal trade.

When, nearly forty years ago, those two great engineers, Sir Sandford Fleming and Marcus Smith, declared the connection between the Island and the Mainland to be something that would become necessary, they were not thinking about an Isthmian canal. What they had in mind were the great advantages to Canada of an all-rail route to the true ocean seaboard of the Dominion, the great resources of Vancouver Island and the part they would play in the internal development of Canada the shortest route to the coming greatest of the world's markets, the fine region on the Mainland which the proposed railway would develop. It was after consideration of these things that Sir Sandford spoke of the time when the construction of the all-rail connection "would be indispensable at whatever cost."

What he believed to be conditions as they existed then has been demonstrated by time to have been an inadequate conception. The most extravagant idea of the natural wealth of this Island held by any one forty years ago was far below what we know these resources are. The most exalted expectations of the future of the Prairie country then seem paltry when compared with what we know about them now. The estimate of the value of the Mainland of British Columbia then entertained was not in keeping with what we know about it now. The potentialities of the Oriental market as they then appeared were as nothing compared with what we now know they are. The importance of time-saving in transportation is ten-fold greater in 1912 than it was in 1873. If Sir Sandford and Mr. Smith had reason with them then, those who advocate the connection now have immensely greater reason for so doing. And upon the top of the vastly strengthened case, comes the Canal, now nearing completion, which is an argument in itself. Our eastern friends make a mistake if they think the agitation for the desired connection is the outcome of the approaching completion of the Canal. That important event is only an additional argument why the work ought not to be delayed.

THE MAN AND HIS MESSAGE

Whatever divergent views may be held of Lord Roberts' Manchester speech there is a very large section of people throughout the British Dominions who will regard it in the nature of an inspiration. It has no parallel in recent years, and even if, as we hope, the gravity of the situation has been overdrawn, the utterances of such an eminent military authority cannot fail to produce a profound impression. In preaching the gospel of increasing the margin of safety he is merely voicing the views held by all the statesmen in the empire. He would have Britain's naval power supreme in all the seas upon which her territory fringes. He would have her trade routes protected. Above all he would have her military power strengthened by means of compulsory service, so that on land, as well as on sea, she may become the potent factor in international relations. It is a tremendous ideal upon which he has set his heart.

Lord Roberts has given over half a century of his life to the service of his country. He has won the highest military rewards that a grateful nation has had in its power to bestow. His skill as a general and his knowledge of present day warfare are probably unrivalled. For these reasons, and, in addition, because the field marshal is a keen student of political conditions in Europe, very great importance must be attached to his opinions. In speaking as he has, love of his country and a desire to make her invincible were the motives at work. The message which he has delivered in telling the people of Great Britain to "Acquit yourselves like men" sounds very much like an echo of Nelson's signal at Trafalgar.

We in Canada share the heritage of naval and military glory which has been handed down through generations of British blood. The freedom and prosperity that are ours today are dependent upon predominant power on sea, and, perhaps, too, on land. To us, therefore, Lord Roberts' message is a very real one, for as yet our share in bearing the burden of defence has not been very great. Compulsory national service is a long way off, and it is to be hoped will never be necessary in this country, but there is much that can be done. Within the next few months Mr. Borden will bring down his naval policy and we are certain it will meet with the support of all self-respecting Canadians who realize their national obligations. To these we say, no matter what their political inclinations may be, that they would do well to study the speech delivered by Lord Roberts, and, at all events, to think over the lessons from history that it teaches.

OUR AUSTRALIAN VISITORS

The Australian cricket team, which is now in Victoria, deserves, and will doubtless receive, a hearty welcome from the people of this city. Not only are they expert exponents of the good old English game, but they are the representatives of that great sister commonwealth, with which Canada is developing such important commercial and personal relations.

It is fitting that their last match of their present tour should be played in Victoria, the last port of call in the British Empire between the northern and the southern hemispheres. The mere fact that the Australians have stayed off here to play a match with the cricketers of British Columbia, will in itself, be a first class advertisement for the Canadian route to and from the southern continent. Many a lover of cricket in Sydney, Melbourne or Adelaide will have it impressed upon him that there is a Victoria other than the state of the Australian commonwealth, and the lesson in geography cannot fail to have effect in drawing the attention of travellers to the attractiveness of the Canadian route.

Apart from this material aspect of the visit, the Australians are such first class representatives of their great and prosperous country that they are entitled to a hearty welcome from all classes of our citizens. It is, of course, a little late in the season to make the witnessing of a cricket match as enjoyable as in summer, but notwithstanding this fact, we hope that the clock of the weather will be kind and that the citizens of Victoria and vicinity will turn out in large numbers to welcome the visitors and to see what is sure to be an excellent exhibition of the national game of the Englishman, no matter where he may be located.

A VALUABLE ADDRESS.

The address of Dr. Carpenter at the luncheon given by the Women's Canadian Club yesterday, was replete with interest and thought. It left a valuable lesson in the minds of those who listened to it. The speaker dealt chiefly with things that we have grown accustomed to consider old-fashioned; but it is a good thing, it is a most excellent thing, to have some one, who will get us down out of the big heights of so-called progress and the clouds of intense activity, and remind us of the basal facts of life. Perhaps there is nothing that we need more as a people today than to have the plain and simple truth plainly and simply told.

These are days of "isms" and "isms" are people who advocate isms, and as a rule they rarely tell us what their particular ism means or what it requires from those who embrace it. These things change as the fashion in clothes change; but certain fundamental things remain and always will remain. It was with the latter that the reverend guest of the Club dealt, and in so doing he chose an exceedingly timely theme.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

It is quite certain that the commission form of government for municipalities is a step in the line of progress. It may happen that better results may be obtained by it in certain cases, but is it not true that the old-fashioned plan of a mayor and aldermen is not more in keeping with the spirit of representative institutions. If it be said that the government of a municipality is simply a business proposition, and that therefore the principle of representation ought not to be considered as necessarily applicable to it, we do not know that we should take a negative position, but in proportion as the powers of commissioners are enlarged and their terms of office are extended, the control of the people is reduced. This may be wise, but it is hardly in line with the species of legislation that has been hitherto recognized as progressive. When we demand government by commission, are we not in point of fact confessing that government by the people through a representative body such as an aldermanic board is, has proved a failure? Failure of popular government is not usually recognized as a sign of progress.

But no system of municipal or any other sort of government has been or ever will be devised that is any better than the men who administer it. Such failures as have been witnessed in municipal affairs are primarily due to the lack of intelligent interest taken in such affairs by the people at large. It may be said that, if you pay men good salaries and entrust them with large powers, more care will be exercised by the people in selecting them. But we do not feel anything like as certain on that point as we would like to be. Every experiment is not a step in progress. The old things are not necessarily bad because they have been used badly in some cases.

And now the statement comes from Germany that synthetic milk has been produced. Some of us have been suspecting it all along.

The allies in the Balkans have a hand of four kings. That looks pretty strong, but you never can tell where the joker happens to be.

Conan Doyle has declared in favor of Home Rule. Now will he kindly give us the views of Mr. Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson on this interesting topic?

The war news as far as received is only of a preliminary nature. When the strength of the Turkish army gets to the front there may be a story of a very different kind to tell.

The death recently occurred at St. John of Mr. George Robertson. It would be difficult to discover anywhere in Canada a citizen who exhibited a finer spirit than he in public matters. He worked with unexampled diligence to promote the welfare of the city, and it is somewhat of a coincidence that he lived to see the inauguration of the great work to which his efforts were chiefly devoted. His one ambition was to see St. John provided with a dry-dock of the best type, and after long years of endeavor that has been secured. The late Mr. Robertson's experience is an incentive to those who undertake the promotion of great undertakings.

Homes That Will Suit

In Hollywood Park we have a particular attractive proposition.

A double corner on Pinewood and St. Charles streets. It faces on paved streets, and has both water and sewer service.

For a quick sale this is offered at $3,500. Terms: one-third cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months.

One of the best buys in Hollywood Crescent is a waterfront lot which we are offering for $2,700. One-third cash and the balance 6, 12 and 18 months.

On Cowichan street, Richmond Park, we have a nice, level, grassy lot, 50x111, running to a 20-foot lane—which is a genuine bargain at the figure asked, namely, $1,550. Terms, one-third cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months. There are both sewer and water on the street. It is an ideal building lot, and a first-class investment.

Another Richmond Park snap is a property situated on Madison street, having a frontage of 67 feet and a depth of 125 feet to a lane. This is nicely treed, and has also the advantage of both sewer and water. From a residential standpoint it could scarcely be bettered, even in this district of charming homesites. Price is $1,850. One-third cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months.

We have a waterfront on the Gorge Road. It is a corner and slopes at such an angle from the Arm as to give an uninterrupted view of the water. This is an exceptionally good proposition, either for the homeseeker or the investor at $1,600. One-third cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months.

IN THE LINE OF HOMES READY FOR OCCUPANCY WE HAVE A SPLENDID SELECTION. HERE ARE TWO SPECIMENS:

A new 6-roomed house, on a corner, Richardson avenue lot. It is well built, well finished and attractively decorated. A number of oak trees on the property make it more than ordinarily charming. Car runs close by, and the street is being paved. This is offered at $5,000. $1,200 cash, balance to be arranged.

On Irving street, in the Foul Bay district, a six-roomed bungalow, modern in every respect. Is close to the cars and beach. The thoroughfare is paved, and the building is all that the most fastidious could desire. Is piped for a furnace, and is well equipped with fireplaces. The decorations are artistic. This will well pay investigation. Price, $4,350. Terms, $1,000 cash, balance arranged.

VIEW ROYAL

"Esquimalt's Waterfront Park"

We have quarter-acre lots on Esquimalt Harbor that must be seen to be properly appreciated. The situation, the scenery, the conveniences of water and light, and the price make up a splendid proposition.

KEEN DISCUSSION AT CONVENTION

City's Delegates to Municipal Sessions at Revelstoke Took Prominent Part in Debates—Returned Home Yesterday

Mayor Beckwith, Alderman Stewart and City Solicitor Robertson, who represented the city council at the recent meeting of the B. C. Union of Municipalities at Revelstoke, returned to the city yesterday afternoon. They expressed themselves highly gratified at the reception which Mayor Sutherland and the council of Revelstoke tendered the delegates. Everything possible for the welfare and entertainment of the visitors was done, and before the convention closed the hearty appreciation of the efforts of the council and citizens of Revelstoke was voiced by the visitors.

The convention, the eighth annual meeting of the union, was the most largely attended of any in the history of the union, and keen discussion of the many important matters dealing with municipal government was had. The Victoria delegates had no set resolutions to submit on behalf of this city's council, but they joined in the discussion and took an important part in the sessions.

Commission Form

Of chief interest to Victoria was the discussion on the topics of municipal government, by commission, telephone, franchises, the necessity of the appointment of municipal analysts as analysts under the Dominion Pure Foods Act, and others. Mayor Beckwith, while not taking a stand against a change in the present form of municipal government, believed that, in view of the appointment by the provincial government of a royal commission to investigate into matters affecting such municipal government, it would be better to await the commission's report.

Mayor Lee, of New Westminster, championed the commission form of government, or at least a change in the act, permitting municipalities to adopt such a system, and many other delegates took part in the animated discussion. The matter was finally left over until later in the sessions, and taken up again just before the close of the convention, when ex-Mayor Plante, of Nanaimo, who had vacated the chair when his successor for the presidency of the union had been elected, moved that, in view of the fact that the union had not before it sufficient data as to the working of the commission form of government in those cities where it had been adopted, the meeting was put in a position to make any suggestions to the royal commission, and that the matter be left until the report of the commission is presented. This suggestion was adopted by the union.

Mayor Beckwith, during his remarks, referred to the experience of the Victoria council when an attempt was made to rush through the council the provisions of a bill to be submitted to the legislature at its last session, a bill in which was incorporated provisions providing for a commission form of government which the council had not had any opportunity of considering, or which, it was a certainty, the government would never have approved of.

The necessity of the appointment by the federal authorities of municipal analysts under the Pure Foods Act was also urged, and a resolution asking that the city analysts of Victoria and Vancouver be given powers permitting them to make analyses under the federal act, so that prosecutions might be brought, was unanimously passed, the Victoria delegates calling attention to the present condition of affairs, where, by reason of the absence in England of Dr. Fagan, the only analyst whose analyses can be used in prosecutions under the act, the city can bring no prosecutions. By the appointment of the city official as a Dominion analyst, this drawback could be obviated.

It was the opinion of the convention that something should be done by the government to control concerning holding public franchises, especially telephone companies, and the argument in favor of government control and operation was advanced by a number of delegates. This was a subject lengthily discussed at the sessions held in Victoria a year ago. A report on the result of the convention will probably be prepared and submitted to the city council by its delegates.

TERMINATE AGREEMENT

Employees of Western Fuel Company Give Notice Respecting Doctors' Fees

Six months from date the agreement between the employees of the Western Fuel Company and Doctors O'Brien and Ingham will be terminated. This action being decided upon by a pit head vote of the men, says The Nanaimo Herald.

Under the existing agreement all employees of the company pay one dollar a month to a fund, 25 cents of which goes to the accident fund and 75 cents to the doctors. In return for which the men receive free medical attention for themselves and families.

A number of the men consider 75 cents per month excessive, and are of the opinion they can secure a doctor at a much less figure. One clause in the agreement states either party desirous of breaking the same must give the other party six months' notice, and in accordance with this clause, yesterday's vote was taken. As stated above, a majority of the ballots cast were in favor of a termination of the existing agreement, and accordingly six months from date, new arrangements will be made with the present doctors or other doctors secured.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY COLONIST

NEWS OF THE CITY

Ministers Returning—The Hon. Price Gillson returned to the city yesterday from Lethbridge and Vernon, and Mr. W. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture, is expected today.

Y. M. C. A. Afternoon Meeting—The Dean of Columbia will be the speaker at the afternoon men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday next. As usual the meeting will be followed by a supper.

Gone to Mainland—Chief Forester MacMillan left for the Mainland last night and will be absent for a week or ten days. The greater part of the time will be spent in the Kootenay country, looking into the work of the past season and making arrangements for that of next year.

Incentive to Housewives—What can be done with a few hens on a town lot is well exemplified by some figures furnished by Mrs. L. M. Wilkins, of Mason street. Her seven hens have laid from January 1 to October 1 of the present year 1,003 eggs, or an average of over 142 eggs per bird, with one more month of the laying season to go.

Diocesan W. A. Meeting—The regular quarterly meeting of the diocesan board of the W. A. was held yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's church schoolroom, with the president, Mrs. L. L. Linton, in the chair. Reports were received from the different branches and the members were asked whether in future they would be willing to change the monthly board meeting from the afternoon to the morning, to be preceded by a celebration of the holy communion. The question will be decided before the next meeting.

Girls' Auxiliary Sewing Meeting—The members of the Girls' Auxiliary of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society met yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Albert Griffiths, Cook street, in order to continue their Christmas sewing for the Transvaal sanatorium. There was not so large an attendance as might have been desired and it is hoped that the members will be present in larger numbers at the next sewing meeting to be held next Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Cross, Linden avenue.

To Enlighten Doubters—A Victoria boy, who is attending an engineering school in Indiana, has written about the resources of the island and especially about Victoria. Other inquiries came from Moose Jaw, Winnipeg, Calgary and Piffshire.

Interested in Island—The Vancouver Island Development League has received a request from The Shooting Times, an English paper, for an article with illustrations, on the sports obtainable on Vancouver Island. Mr. J. H. Sweeting, of the industrial advertising department of the C. P. R., also called at the office yesterday, when he was furnished with a complete set of literature, and a similar set has been supplied at his request to Mr. R. W. Strum, the representative of The Daily Express and Daily Graphic.

New Poultry Association—The recently formed Arrow Lake Poultry Association, with headquarters at Nakusp, was yesterday granted affiliation by the executive of the B. C. Poultry Association. The central body also approved of the action of the South Fraser association in merging three small shows in one big one this winter.

Co-operation in Marketing—It was decided at a meeting of the executive body of the B. C. Poultry Association yesterday to print and distribute 1,000 pamphlets on co-operation in marketing poultry.

Mr. Goward Home—Mr. A. T. Goward, local manager of the B. C. C. has returned from a trip to the East, during which he attended the annual convention of street railway managers. This was held at Milwaukee, where there were over two thousand delegates gathered. Papers on various subjects connected with the management of street railways, operation, matters electrical, steam and hydraulic, were given by well-known managers from the great Eastern cities. One of the principal features of the convention was the exhibition of models of street cars of every shape and form, model lines, switches and methods of signalling.

Fraser Valley Chapter Meets—Fraser Valley Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire met yesterday afternoon at the residence of their regent, Mrs. G. C. Mesher, Dallas road, to discuss the matter of decorating the Victoria theatre for the Navy League meeting on Wednesday. The scheme of decoration will include wreaths of maple leaves and laurel leaves, a quantity of bunting being also used. As usual the regents of the Daughters of the Empire will occupy a box. The members will meet at the theatre for work on Wednesday morning. The chapter was addressed by Mrs. Campbell, late of India, who spoke of the Daughters of the Empire work in that country, where there are three chapters, while Mr. Clive Phillips Wolley spoke on the work of the Navy League.

Surveying Nootka Island—Yesterday Mr. W. J. Sutton, the president, and Mr. E. McGuffey, the secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League were granted an interview with Hon. W. R. Ross, minister of lands, for the purpose of urging on his attention the surveying as early as possible next spring of the whole of Nootka Island, in order that the settlers of the Rockies may have any doubts as to the status of their pre-emptions set at rest. A resolution from the Clayoquot branch, which had received the endorsement of several other branches of the League, was also presented to the minister, petitioning the government to reserve for pre-emption all unalienated lands now held by it which would be suitable for agriculture. Mr. Ross promised to take these matters into consideration and notify the League when he had come to a conclusion on them.

Equilateral Council—Owing to Monday being Thanksgiving Day, the regular weekly meeting of the Equilateral council will be held on the evening of the following day, Tuesday.

Bishop Roper Returns—His Lordship the Bishop of Columbia returned to Victoria yesterday afternoon after an absence in the east of three weeks. The bishop is in Toronto, attending the conference of the missionary society of the Church of England in Canada.

Building Permits—Building permits were issued yesterday by the building inspector to Messrs. Moore & Whittington for two dwellings to be erected on Richardson street to cost $3,000 each; to Mr. J. P. Smith, garage on Queen's avenue, $100.

Prairie Farmers Awakening—Mr. C. Lianna, who is in charge of the sheep and horse raising branch of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Seattle and San Francisco. He stated that the farmers in the latter section were more and more awakening to the necessity of adding livestock to the grain-growing farms, both as an alternative source of revenue when the latter failed them and also as a means towards the replenishing of the land and a proper system of crop rotation.

Field for Horse-Breaking—Charged with breaking and entering the barroom of the Western hotel, Store street, early yesterday morning, Wong, a Chinese formerly employed at the place as a porter, was arrested by Detectives Fry and Macdonald. It is alleged that Wong secured the key by breaking a pane of glass in the side door and then unlocking the door, and purloined about $25 in change from the cash register. He will be arraigned this morning in the police court.

By-Law Omission—When the by-law for the local improvement work on Ballis road, including that portion adjoining the new wall, was drawn it provided for a concrete walk along the south side of the roadway, but located in such manner that a space of ten feet between the wall and the wall is left. Upon the suggestion of City Engineer Rust, the city council has decided to close the road on the north side and the by-law will be prepared providing for the concreting of the space next the sea wall so that the walk will run up to the wall.

Preparing for Police Ball—Tickets for the forthcoming police ball, to be held on the evening of Wednesday, December 4, will be on sale on Monday. The various committees will soon commence active work preparing the main building at the fair grounds for the event. It has been deemed inadvisable to carry out the intention of using the women's building for a supper and a cloak room, leaving the entire main hall for dancing, and the main building alone will be utilized but a larger dancing floor will this year be provided, the large attendance last year having rendered the arrangements then made for the dancers inadequate.

New Motor Apparatus Damaged—More or less damaged because of a collision in which the car on which it was stored and other cars in the Vancouver railway yards, the new double 60-gallon chemical engine ordered by the city arrived at headquarters' fire hall yesterday morning and after being given a preliminary run to ascertain if any serious injury had been done to the machine, it was found necessary to be given its official test. The headlights, horn, crank and other fixtures on the front of the machine were badly damaged to the extent of about $150. This damage must be made good before the machine will be accepted by the fire chief.

Natural Drainage Limited—Because Mr. Goodwin in constructing a residence on Foul Bay road erected the rear portion over a natural water course, and to make provision for the flow of water from a large section of land adjoining put in but a six-inch drain to take the place of the natural outlet, the city will take action to force Mr. Goodwin to make better provision for the proper drainage through the water course.

For Protection of Traffic—If satisfactory arrangements with the owners can be made, the city will widen the thoroughfare at the corner of Dallas road and Broughton street where the present location of the private property makes the corner a very dangerous one for vehicular traffic. Sufficient land will be expropriated to round off the present angular corner.

Object to Tax Demand—Following upon the recent protest of the trustees of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church against the city's demanding taxes upon the site of the church when the Municipal Clauses Act provides for the exemption of "church buildings and sites," another protest, this time from Rev. R. A. Macdonell, pastor of St. Columba's church, Hulton street, has been made to the city. Rev. Mr. Macdonell protests against the demand of the city for $25.73 taxes upon the lot on which the church is erected. In the case of the protest of the St. Andrew's church trustees, City Solicitor Robertson advised the city that as the assessment was made and the assessment roll passed without any formal protest from the trustees, within the time limit fixed by law for the registration of such complaints, the trustees were too late to enter an effective protest. It is likely that Rev. Mr. Macdonell's protest will also be referred to the city solicitor whose advice to the council will coincide with that recently given.

THE WEATHER

Meteorological Office, Victoria, B. C., at 4 p.m., October 26th, 1912.

Weather conditions on the Pacific slope are still unsettled and the barometric pressure low, with a strong wind from the west and gales on the outside waters. Rainfall has been very general and temperatures about the normal. One of the Rockies weather in the prairie provinces continues fair, with light to heavy frosts at night.

The Alvensleben Daily Gazette

Saturday Morning, October 26, 1912

It has been declared by the Progressive Club that "The climate shall be Victoria's slogan." We are very much in sympathy with Victoria's climate, but that is only one of the many features of which our city can boast. Beautiful drives and magnificent homes go to make Victoria the Los Angeles of Canada.

These features are being heralded from coast to coast—and with wonderful results. Our population is growing, which means that Real Estate must advance. We have buys in any part of the city that you can double your money on in a short time.

NEWS OF THE CITY

C. N. R. Terminals—Major Findlay, of Vancouver, has gone to Edmonton to confer with Sir William MacKenzie in regard to the C. N. R. terminals at Felsen Creek, Vancouver.

W. G. T. U. Found Party—To the acknowledgment of donations to the W. G. T. U. men's mission, pound party the committee adds thanks to Mrs. McCulloch and Miss Ward, for flour and groceries; Mrs. Kaye, cash.

Bying Out the Land—Mr. P. Cunliffe, of Paris, France, arrived at the Empress hotel yesterday. He is here, he said, simply to see the country and to gather information as to its resources. He came here by way of New York city and intends to return home via the same city.

Naval League Meeting—Great interest has been aroused in the public meeting under the Navy League, to be held in the Victoria theatre on Wednesday evening next. Every preparation, in respect to the securing of good speakers, has been made, looking to the success of the event. It is anticipated that some important announcements will be made.

Duplication in Names—The way with the duplication in names a by-law will be submitted at the next meeting of the city council to change the name of one of the two Chester streets now in existence. One Chester street runs from Dallas road to Woodstock street and the other from Oscar to Fairfield road.

Esquimalt Quiet—Messrs. Halsted and Gray, the newly appointed constables for the municipality of Esquimalt, have taken up their duties and, while they are not yet attired in the distinctive garb of their office, they are in active pursuance of their duty. As a matter of fact their uniform is still an uncertainty, but the probability is that they will be clothed after the manner of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, with slouch hats, loose jackets and riding breeches.

Science Begins—During the past two days the Conservative rooms on Government street, where animated scenes were daily and nightly to be witnessed in the gathering of groups of party adherents, have been strangely silent. The cause of this is to be found in the B. C. Conservative Association convention, which, however, closed its sessions at Revelstoke yesterday, and from now on the local Conservative rooms will assume their wonted aspect of enthusiastic activity under the efficient secretaryship of Mr. W. H. Deane.

White Drive—The weekly whist drive of the Ivy Leaf Social Club was held at the Alexandra Club on Thursday evening, fifty-two ladies and gentlemen playing the good old game with enthusiasm. The games were very keenly contested, play being in the order of high order. The committee will meet at 844 Johnson street at 8 p. m. on Tuesday. Mrs. Webb presented the prizes to the following successful players: Mrs. Hall, first lady's prize; Mrs. Warren, second lady's prize; Miss Kile, consolation prize; Mr. Bountree, first gentleman's prize; Mr. Quick, second gentleman's prize; Mr. Jack Odly, consolation prize. Mr. T. W. Vincent acted as master of ceremonies.

Fruit Growing Conditions—The Dominion department of agriculture has now issued in printed form a report of a special inquiry into fruit growing conditions in Canada which was conducted by Mr. Bunting in 1911. This includes information on the possibilities of an extension of the fruit growing industry in different localities, visited, the tendencies in the matters of the planting and growing of different kinds of fruit, the popular varieties of apples, and whether planted early or late, the difficulties likely to be encountered in the further development of the fruit industry, methods of production and orchard management in different provinces, the probability of over-production, marketing methods in British Columbia, Ontario and the maritime provinces, and the effect of American competition. Mr. Bunting has collected an enormous mass of information in the course of this inquiry, all of the utmost value, but it may be doubted whether, in an inquiry over such an area in a limited space of time, it is possible to do justice to the question, and this surmise is confirmed when the surmises of remarks on different localities is noticed, but the whole impression the reader will carry away is of hopefulness for the future that lies before the ever-increasing fruit industry of the Dominion.

Dwelling Guttered—By the narrowest of margins, Mrs. F. H. Clayton and a number of roomers at her boarding house, corner of Esquimalt road and Canton road, opposite the navy canteen grounds, escaped with their lives yesterday morning about 2 o'clock, when they were awakened to find the premises ablaze from the ground to the roof. In the scantiest of clothing the occupants rushed out of the house, leaving all their effects behind. One of the boarders rushed across to the canteen building and awakened the caretaker, who summoned assistance from the naval quarters. Captain Bray and ten members of the ordnance corps, together with about a score of blue-jackets, got a line of hose into service, but the building was completely gutted before any successful attempt to quell the flames could be made. Only the piano was saved. The house cracked the windows in the front of the residence occupied by Mrs. Jones nearby, and embers were carried by the heavy wind across the canteen grounds and to the roof of the buildings there. It was a fortunate circumstance for owners of nearby structures that the wind blew from the quarter it was. The reflection, alarmed a resident of the city living near the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He telephoned in an alarm stating that the fire appeared to be near the corner of Pandora avenue and Richmond road. The department from halls No. 2 and 7 and Fire Chief Davis responded, but no signs of any blaze in the quarter indicated could be found. In the meantime the rest fire in Esquimalt had died down and its reflection could not be seen. Mrs. Clayton's loss is placed at about $4500 or $5000, with insurance of $1000. The cause of the fire is a mystery. No fires were alight when the inmates retired. When awakened by the smoke the occupants found the rear portion of the structure a mass of flames.

Gadgets for Nanaimo—Major Snow has returned from Nanaimo, where on Thursday next it was decided to establish a cadet corps, 100 strong. The boys present were greatly enthused by a patriotic speech by Mr. F. H. Shepherd, M.P., and 70 of the boys, enrolled their names as members of the Nanaimo Cadet Corps, of which Captain Pym will be instructor.

Long Record of Immunity—The English board of agriculture, having found that the disease of the phrase "cattle plague" in connection with the recent outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has foreign countries, desires it to be made known that no case of cattle plague (crinderpath) has occurred in the United Kingdom for more than thirty-five years.

Dairy Conference—The department of agriculture at Ottawa has just issued the report of the conference of dairy experts held in that city last December. The main object of the gathering was largely of a technical nature, including the pasteurization of whey, testing and grading of cream at cream gathering centres, whey butter, and other subjects relating to the production of butter and cheese. Copies may be procured from the publications branch at Ottawa.

Was Marooned—Mr. W. W. Foster, deputy minister of public works, who went to Sidney on a fishing trip on Wednesday, was marooned on an island by the storm yesterday and could not reach the shore until Sunday morning. He was rescued by a fisherman and was by him transported to Sidney. Thus it was that he was unable to reach the city in time to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Mahan yesterday afternoon, not arriving back until after 4:30 p. m.

A Judge's Protest—In the course of a speech at the Trafalgar Day celebration at Nelson, Mr. Justice Gregory said that during the recent visit of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, in nearly every city in which the flag had been lavishly displayed, it had been raised upside down. The cause, was chiefly because the flags were manufactured in the States and nailed to the mast the wrong way up. The speaker thought it would be wise for all to know that the right position of the Union Jack was with the broad white stripes on the outside bottom corner.

Postal Mishap—There was to have been a meeting of the legislative committee of the board of trade yesterday forenoon, but owing to a pardonable error of judgment—or distance—the circulars notifying the committee members were deposited in the wrong paper box instead of the letter box, and as the deliveries at the former are not made with the frequency of the deliveries at the latter the circulars did not reach their destinations in time. The meeting would, under other circumstances, have probably been recalled on Monday, but on account of the Thanksgiving holiday it has been deferred until later in the week.

Educational Classes Popular—At the meeting of the board of directors of T. M. C. A. yesterday only routine business was transacted. At present no decision has been arrived at with regard to filling the post of general secretary. The educational classes are proving very popular, so much so that additional accommodation has been found necessary for the members who have enrolled themselves for the different classes. It is interesting to note that the greatest demand is for further knowledge in arithmetic and the study of architectural plans.

Assessment Question—At the next meeting of the Esquimalt municipal council the question of existing down to work on the assessment roll will be brought up for consideration. At the last meeting Reeve Lugin introduced the subject by making the statement that according to the law the voters would be without rights until after the next election, owing to the provision in the oath requiring the declaration of the payment of taxes to the council at a date now impossible of achievement. No action has yet been taken on the subject, but it is understood that the city will be asked to work on the assessment roll by making the preliminary arrangements for the compiling of the first assessment roll of the municipality.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. F. B. Pope is in Vancouver on a visit to her daughter, Miss Glile Pope. Miss Leitch, the provincial president of the King's Daughters, is in Vancouver in attendance upon the opening of the King's Daughters' convalescent home, Esquimalt.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized in Vancouver on Tuesday evening when Miss Hazel B., second daughter of the late Mr. Frank Jeffrey and Mrs. Jeffrey of Fairview, became the bride of Mr. John F. Scott of Victoria, formerly of Vancouver, the Rev. G. K. Bradshaw officiating. The young bride was smartly gowned in her travelling dress of color cloth with a large beaver hat in a slightly lighter shade, and was given away by Mr. R. S. Ford, an old friend of the family. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Vera Jeffrey, who was prettily gowned in pink satin and wore the groom's gift, a handsome necklace. Mr. S. M. Scott of Vancouver acted as best man. After congratulations a buffet supper was served in the dining room, which was bright and fragrant with many flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Scott departed for their wedding journey, the latter wearing the groom's gift, a set of handsome black fox furs. They will make their home in Victoria.

Mrs. Lionel Gurnsey and babe will return to the city in a few days. Mr. Gurnsey is at present at the James Bay hotel.

The marriage took place at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Wednesday of Mr. William Oliphant junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliphant, Park Boulevard, and Miss Mary McGreggor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. McGreggor. Rev. W. Leslie Clay officiated. Miss Barbara Brown was bridesmaid and the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. John S. Oliphant. Mr. and Mrs. Oliphant left on the midnight boat for a honeymoon on the mainland. Mrs. A. E. Boyd left for Carleton yesterday.

Mr. H. G. Allen, of William Allen & Son, and his mother, Mrs. Hannah Allen, left on Thursday afternoon by way of Seattle for California, where they will spend the winter. Commander and Mrs. F. H. Walter have left Derravaragh and taken up their residence at Winfrith, Esquimalt road.

Mr. M. J. Costello, assistant traffic manager of the Great Northern Railroad, left for Seattle yesterday afternoon after a short visit to this city.

A quiet wedding was celebrated on Thursday afternoon in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride at the home of Mr. Thomas H. Parr, Bee street, where his youngest daughter, Agnes Gertrude, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony with Mr. Frank Samson Scott, of Victoria. Rev. R. A. Macdonnell officiated. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Parr, and the groom, by his brother, Mr. Septimus Scott. Mr. and Mrs. Scott left for California for their wedding trip, and on their return, will reside at Mount Toinie.

The Collingwood (Ont.) Bulletin contains the following regarding respected residents of this city: On Monday evening the congregation of the Presbyterian church gave a reception to Rev. Dr. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, who were spending a few days in town on their way from British Columbia to visit Mrs. Campbell's mother and other friends in Belleville. The church parlors were well filled by the members of the congregation and a few others who had all come to manifest their kindly regards for the doctor and his esteemed wife. In the course of the evening congratulatory and laudatory addresses were given by Mr. T. M. Mitchell, Mr. Dougald Darroch, Dr. McKay, Col. Bruce and Mr. W. Williams. In the course of his reply, Dr. Campbell said that both he and his wife loved Collingwood and would like to spend their days here, but they lived in a beautiful city (the West), their family had determined to make their home in that land, and it was probable that they would spend their days in Victoria.

COMING EVENTS

Sacred Concert—The usual sacred concert will be given at the Victoria theatre on Sunday evening at 8:15, doors being open at 7:45. An excellent programme is being arranged.

Dance at Sanichion—A dance will be given by the Guild of St. Mary and St. Stephen at the Agricultural hall, Sanichion, on November 1, at 8:30 p. m. Refreshments are provided.

Missionary from Spain—There will be a special meeting at the Salvation Army Citadel on Monday evening, when Rev. Mr. Hozie, who has been a missionary in Spain for thirty years, will lecture on his experiences there.

Halloween Social—The First Baptist Church Young People's Society will celebrate halloween on Monday evening in the church, with all its quaint customs. They have prepared an excellent programme, and it is expected that this social will be one of the most successful they have held.

Linon Shower—The linen shower under the auspices of the Victoria Auxiliary, Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, takes place this afternoon in the Nurses' Home, on the Jubilee hospital grounds. It is hoped that a large number of ladies will be present.

Remembrance Memorial Chapel—The monthly celebration of holy communion will be held tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock in Remembrance Memorial chapel. The choir, patients, members of the hospital staff and also residents of the neighborhood are cordially invited.

Halloween Festival—The young people's branch of the W. C. T. U. are giving a halloween festival in the cafe of the Alexandra Club this evening, to be opened by Mrs. Spofford, at eight o'clock. A continuous musical programme will be rendered during the evening.

Thanksgiving Entertainment—The Ladies Aid of Centennial Methodist church announces a dramatic recital for Tuesday, at 8 p. m., to be given at Mrs. J. H. Jones, of London, a recent graduate of the Manchester School of Elocution. One number on Mr. Hayes' programme will be a rendering of the hymn "O God, be good to us," and also residents of the neighborhood are cordially invited.

Thanksgiving Social—The Ladies Aid of James Bay Methodist church will hold their annual thanksgiving social in the schoolroom of the church, corner of Menzies and Michigan streets, on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. The following ladies and gentlemen will contribute to the programme: Mrs. Edward Parsons, Mrs. L. T. Tucker, Misses Noble, Parsons, K. Ede, A. Ede, Sheritt, Edwards and Woodley; Messrs. Parsons, Tucker, Herbert, Hollins, Stinson and Ditchell, and the Metropolitan male quartette.

Motor Show—A motor show worthy of Canada's premier good roads and motoring city will be held at the drill hall on December 2, 4, 5 and 7. While officially known as a 1912 show every car exhibited will be of 1912 model. The Fifth Regiment band has been engaged for a series of five concerts, one every evening. At the first the musicians will be found a replica of a Parisian boulevard cafe, where the visitors may obtain refreshment. Electric lights of many colors will predominate in the illuminations, while the booths downstairs will harmonize with a pre-determined color scheme. The show is under the management of Mr. A. Charchill, Jr., 421 Central building.

OBITUARY NOTICES

Johnson—The funeral of the late Mr. Peter Johnson will take place this afternoon at 2:30 from Hanna and Thomson's parlors. Rev. J. B. Warricker officiating. The arrangements are being made by the Loyal Order of Moose, of which the deceased was a member.

Moss—The funeral of the late Mr. Thomas Moss will take place on Monday at 2:30 p. m., from Hanna and Thomson's parlors.

Preese—The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Preese, of Walnut street, Spring Riders, will take place this afternoon at 2:30 from the Victoria Undertaking parlors. Rev. F. H. Fatt officiating.

Wilson—The funeral of the late Mr. Robert Wilson, took place yesterday morning from the B. C. Funeral parlors, Rev. T. W. Gladstone officiating. The remains were interred at Ross Bay cemetery.

Births, Marriages, Deaths

BORN

GODWIN—On the 15th inst. to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Godwin, at 2125 Victoria street, a son, named William.

"I'll Bet I'd Be a Riot Down on Broadway"

An amusing travesty on the mannerisms of an aspiring grand opera prima donna, recorded on one of the November Columbia double-disc records, just in, by Grace Cameron, the new, soprano star. On the other side of this record is another of Miss Cameron's songs, "Since Dolly Dimple Made a Hit," the funniest sort of a take-off on a genuine Broadway "Tottie Cough-Drops" chorus girl.

Next month's Columbia records also include the first recordings of Arthur Friedheim, the world-famous pianist, Weber and Fields' latest, new marches by Prince and his band, "I've Got the Finest Man," "I'd Love to Live in Loveland with a Girl Like You," "My Summum Girl" and hundreds of others.

THE REAL HEINTZMAN PIANO IS MADE BY HEINTZMAN & CO., LTD.

A majority of manufacturers and dealers claim their pianos to be "exactly like HEINTZMAN." Such a claim is an insult to the prospective purchaser's intelligence, although it is a great compliment to the HEINTZMAN factory.

There is but ONE "HEINTZMAN" piano, and that one is made by Heintzman & Co., Limited. If there was a piano as good or better than this to be bought in Canada, we should be selling it—as it is, we are happy to be selling the best.

To substantiate our claim on behalf of the only HEINTZMAN piano made, we very respectfully request you to make comparisons before you buy.

MATTERS OF MOMENT IN WOMEN'S REAL M

Unnecessary Suffering

There are still a great many women who believe that children must some time in their lives contract what are usually spoken of as the diseases of childhood. They take little trouble to prevent their own children from coming in contact with their friends or relatives who may have whooping cough, measles or mumps. Even scarlet fever and diphtheria are not guarded against as they should be. The old idea of such sicknesses as visits of providence has not yet wholly disappeared. If such mothers are careless in guarding their own children from danger, they can scarcely be expected to be solicitous about the health of other people's little ones. It is such an error which is responsible for epidemics. A woman of this kind would have no qualms of conscience about sending a pupil who had been suffering from a mild attack of scarlet fever back to school before the danger of infection was over. If there was a case of measles in the house she would allow other members of the family to play on the street, to ride on the cars or even to go to school.

It may be said the health officers should prevent this. But it is only in severe cases of illness that such mothers call in a doctor. There are few cities where carelessness and disregard of the rights of others are not responsible for epidemics which cause much expense and great grief. For the information of all who have the care of children Dr. Woods Hutchinson has stated in very plain words the horrible results that may follow such perversity. In a book entitled "We and Our Children," intended for the use of parents, he says:

"It is really surprising how large a share of so-called delicate and backwardness in children is due to a perfectly preventable group of causes, namely—the acute infectious diseases. Exceedingly few children, for instance, are born deaf and dumb, or with defective sight, and very few are either epileptic or deformed. Ninety per cent of these conditions are emphatically acquired. In other words, a cripple, a blind child, a hunchback, a deaf mute, is nine times out of ten a manufactured product. It is perfectly possible to stop this branch of the manufacturing industry."

"The little fevers of infancy, the diseases of childhood, are by no means the trifling and unimportant things which we were at one time inclined to regard them. Their death rate, which was formerly nearly forty thousand deaths a year in the United States alone, and though this is bad enough, we are becoming more and more convinced that their most serious effect upon the race is the scars and the marks and the damages that they leave upon the survivors. Many and many a case of delicacy and feebleness, lack of thrift and vigor, is due to the mark left upon the little sufferer's kidneys, or heart, or liver, or nervous system, by an imperceptible recovery from an attack of one of these trifling disorders. Eight-tenths of all our so-called chronic degenerations of the kidneys, heart, blood vessels, liver and nervous system are now attributed chiefly to after effects of one of these acute infections, either in infancy or childhood, or in early adult life."

"Fortunately, one simple method is the best-known preventive and the nearest thing to a certain cure for these after effects and 'hang-overs,' and that is complete and absolute rest during the period of convalescence, and until full recovery, not merely of the former weight, but of normal vigor and bounce and elasticity, has occurred. Keep your child at home from school, keep him from engaging in the more violent competitive play, keep him out of doors, and if possible, send him to the country for four, eight or twelve weeks after an attack of measles, of scarlet fever, of diphtheria, of whooping cough—yes even of tonsillitis, and of a severe cold, which is an infection, like the others, and probably permanently damages the many kidneys, nervous systems and hearts as any one of them—and you will have taken a long step toward warding off the risk of a childhood of invalidism and of an early decay of his nervous system. Give Nature all the time she wants and every possible advantage in the way of surroundings, so that she can make a complete and permanent cure, and you will have wiped out one of the commonest causes of invalidism in later life."

If Dr. Woods Hutchinson is right in his estimate of the grave consequences of these diseases, mothers may well try, not only to guard their own children from them, but take care that they themselves are not instrumental in causing their spread. What the strictest sanitary regulations and the most rigid inspection cannot accomplish would be brought about by the determination of the mothers of a community to do their duty, not only by their own children, but by those of their neighbors.

Hospital By-Law

The city council has decided to submit in the near future, a by-law to the people of Victoria for the purpose of raising funds for a new hospital. It is to be hoped that every citizen will give this matter earnest consideration. We were all startled some months ago to learn that the accommodation at the public hospital was so deficient and its equipment inadequate. Each one knows that the hospital built twenty-three years ago must be too small now. But few of us realize that the building cannot go up in a night like Aladdin's palace. The nurses and every one employed at the hospital find their work hampered. The patients receive every care and attention possible, and it is greatly to the credit of the staff that there has been so little reason for complaint. It is perfectly true that taxes are already very heavy. Still, no one in Victoria, and surely no woman, will recommend that retrenchment shall begin in the care of the sick. If the by-law is not passed there will be real distress among the poor and among many who can afford to pay hospital fees, but who have only moderate means. Every voter should learn just what conditions are and how great is the need for a new hospital. Victoria cannot afford, when she is inviting people to make their home here, not to make the most ample provision for sickness, even if her citizens were not too kindhearted to neglect so plain a duty.

The Linen Shower

While the citizens of Victoria prepare for the building of a new hospital, her women must not be unmindful that there are immediate needs that must be supplied. The Women's Auxiliary has undertaken the maintenance of the equipment of the wards and rooms. There are more patients at the Jubilee than there ever were before, and as a consequence the wear and tear has been greater. The supply of bed and table linen has accordingly run low, and at this season it is especially necessary that it should be immediately replenished. The ladies of Victoria are invited to a linen shower at the nurses' home near the hospital, this afternoon. There are many who would be glad to contribute to the needs of the sick who are unknown to the members of the committee, and this paragraph is written in the hope that it will catch the eye of some generous woman, who has something to spare for other's needs, but who has not been appealed to personally.

The Danish Way

It is interesting to learn that the premier of Denmark has introduced into parliament a bill making women eligible not only to vote, but to hold seats in parliament. In Denmark, Norway and Sweden the agitation for woman suffrage has been conducted along saner lines than in England. Men and women have agreed to work together for woman suffrage. There has been little, if any, sex antagonism. While there has been difference of opinion between parties, there has not been anger and bitterness between men and women. Yet in Denmark women are employed in unusual positions. There is in Copenhagen, at least one woman who is doing valuable work among women and girls as an officer of the law. Her work is valuable because it has been undertaken with the approval of the community. It is as the helpmates of men that women in the north are entering into public life.

A High Standard

The Women's Christian Temperance Union in the United States has just closed its convention in Oregon. The Portland Telegram has published an editorial expressing its opinion of the delegates who met together in that city. Its words present an ideal for all women's organizations to strive to reach: "In the national convention of the W. C. T. U. we have with us this week the representatives of the highest moral standard in the country. Though some people may say that there is a touch of fanaticism in some of the proceedings of that body, it is up to us as a community to recognize that the things advocated are all for good; that they work for sobriety, for purity, for clean living. We have also to recognize that the cause itself, and that which is behind it, is a dynamic force in the country that is never to be left out of the reckoning as we consider the ways and means of real progress and the lines it is bound to follow."

"Those women who are laboring here to Portland, are laboring, broadly viewed, for the betterment of woman—women of refinement and of intellectual attainments that are beyond the ordinary—many of them are women of rare gifts—and all of these attributes are brought to bear upon the proposition of making life better worth the living."

"These women and the institutions they are building are all for the home and for those things that are a support to the home. The ultimate aim is to create conditions which will help to make better men and women. There is not a single purpose that has even the slightest suggestion of evil. The atmosphere in which they labor is one of high morality, and they are evolving the genius and the capacity, as the years go by, to bring the world, in a practical sense, more and more into that atmosphere."

Who Wrote Shakespeare?

BRUSSELS, Oct. 25.—M. Celestin Demblon, the well-known Socialist deputy and professor of literature, who some time ago stated himself to be capable of proving the accuracy of the theory according to which most of the Shakespeare dramas were the work of the Earl of Rutland, is about to support his contention in a book of 570 pages, which will first appear in Paris, and afterwards in London, in an English version, and under the title of "Lord Rutland is Shakespeare." This work will be followed by a second one bearing the title of "The Author of Hamlet and His Surroundings," and illustrated with portraits of the Earl of Rutland. The Belgian deputy believes his works will be to convince the celebration of Shakespeare's third centenary will turn into a Rutland celebration, even with the approval of the "Shakespeare" party. His friends, however, express wise scepticism as to such a result.

PROVINCE SWEEP DRY FARMING PRIZES

Hon. Price Ellison Returns From Lethbridge and Talks of the Congress—Fruit Show at Vernon

Hon. Price Ellison, minister of finance and agriculture, returned yesterday from Lethbridge, Alberta, where he represented the province at the dry farming congress. British Columbia showed a large exhibit of agricultural and natural resources, and many boards of trade and districts had good showings.

British Columbia was awarded the trophy for the best exhibit of fruit at the congress, and had the province not been debarred from competition on account of its exhibit not being solely a dry-farming one, there is no doubt but that it would have taken the first place, as it was generally conceded to be the best on view. The first prize for early potatoes was awarded to the province, and the first and second prizes were also secured for late potatoes, together with the sweepstake prize for the best potatoes on earth, the winning exhibit being sent from Armstrong.

These prizes were won in competition with a large number of exhibits, which, the congress being an international one, came from far afield, there being large exhibits from California, Colorado, Oklahoma, Idaho, Washington and other places. There was scarcely anything in competition from British Columbia but what secured a prize. Nainaimo, whose board of trade, had a creditable exhibit, took first prize for the largest mangel.

Province Well Represented
 British Columbia was well represented at the congress. In addition to the minister, the deputy minister, Mr. W. E. Scott, the chief horticulturist, Mr. Winslow and four assistants; the chief inspector of fruit pests, Mr. Thomas Cunningham, and others were present to represent the government, and there were numerous representatives from the various districts and boards of trade. Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture, also attended and delivered a noteworthy address. The women's congress, which sat at the same time, also included many British Columbia representatives. Miss Ravenshill, of Duncan, an eminent lecturer on domestic science; Mrs. A. T. Watt, of William Head, Mrs. Norman, of Kaslo, and Mrs. Lipsitt, from Okanagan, all took part as representatives from this province, and delivered addresses on domestic science and subjects relating to the betterment of the women of the farming communities.

Some notable addresses were made at the congress. Hon. Martin Burrell spoke in a most interesting way on the subject of dry farming, and Hon. Price Ellison, who has had a large experience as a dry farmer for many years, spoke on the practical part of the subject.

Okanagan Fruit Show

At Vernon Mr. Ellison met Sir Richard McBride and party and the premier opened the district fruit show on Wednesday. There was a splendid exhibition, reflecting great credit on the district. The premier expressed his delight at the display, and Mr. R. F. Green, M. P., for Kootenay, also spoke to the same effect, as did, too, the minister of agriculture. Following the show Sir Richard McBride, Mr. Green and he went for a drive across the country.

In the evening Hon. Mr. Ellison and Mrs. Ellison issued invitations to 200 people to attend a grand military ball, which followed a banquet in honor of Sir Richard McBride. The premier is the honorary colonel of the 31st British Columbia Horse, in command of Lieut-Col. C. L. Flick, and the regiment was largely represented at the ball.

Hon. Mr. Ellison said that the crop had been usually good in that part of British Columbia this season, the quality being good and the harvest immense. The growers were finding difficulty in securing enough cars to get out their products.

DEFY CITY'S POWERS

Flagrant Street Owners Will Move Houses Despite Cancellation of the Permits

Defiance of the city's regulations prohibiting the moving from one point to another within the fire limits of frame structures is being threatened by Messrs. Demal and McFadden, owners of three dwellings which occupy one site on Flagrant street, and which it is proposed to move to another location nearby. The city building by-law provided for moving of frame houses of a value of not less than $100, if such buildings are without the fire limits, but no structure within the fire limits may be moved.

Application was made by Messrs. Demal and McFadden for permission to move their buildings, and such permit was granted by Mr. A. E. Forman, assistant to the city engineer. Afterwards the provisions of the by-law relative to house-moving was brought to Mr. Forman's attention, and he interpreted them to mean that no buildings within the fire limits may be moved. Accordingly he cancelled the permit.

Messrs. Demal and McFadden consequently sought legal advice, and yesterday the council committee of the council considered a communication from Messrs. Alkman & Austin, solicitors for the owners. The solicitors point out that the only regulations affecting house-moving are those in section 211 of the building by-law, prohibiting buildings being moved from one limit to another, but no mention is made as to the moving of an existing building within the fire limits from one place to another within such limits. It is further claimed that as the by-law is silent as to the rights of owners to move buildings from one place in the fire limits to another, the permits issued will be retained by Messrs. Demal and McFadden and acted upon.

City Engineer Rust stated that upon every occasion on which a house is moved numerous complaints from adjoining owners have been made of the damage done during the moving operations to such properties. He thought the council should adopt some definite policy and adhere to it. In the case of Messrs. Demal and McFadden, the permit was issued in ignorance of the regulations and consequently had been cancelled.

Mayor Beckwith referred to complaints received of damage done by house-moving operations on Niagara street, but the council should recognize that the city often secured property through expropriation proceedings and has to dispose of buildings which might be on it.

City Engineer Rust suggested a cash deposit to guarantee payment of any damage the city has to make good, but the minister was left to the city engineer, city solicitor and building inspector for report.

NATIONAL INSURANCE

British Doctors Score Victory in Campaign Against Mr. Lloyd George's Act

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The doctors have scored in their campaign against Chancellor Lloyd-George's Insurance Act. For the chancellor has announced that he is prepared to pay them fees of 9s. per insured patient yearly, inclusive of drugs. This is an increase on the original terms offered to the doctors, which was 6s. for each insured patient, including drugs.

This concession will entail an additional charge on the exchequer of $2,200,000 yearly. Although Sir Clifford Allbutt, the famous physician, who is a member of the insurance advisory board, says the chancellor's proposition ought to be acceptable to the medical profession, many doctors have already expressed strong views against it. If this scheme fails, a national medical service will be created.

The Vancouver General hospital this year has cost $15,898.85 more than it has earned, according to the report submitted by the treasurer to the board of directors. The loss for September of this year was $5,944.44. The fixed expenses per month for paying staff salaries, etc. has increased $1,345. In September the hospital collected 71 cents per patient per day; the provincial government donated 45 cents, and the city another 45 cents, making the total $1.61. The expenses per patient, however, have been $2.35 a day, making the loss sustained per patient 74 cents a day.

COMMISSIONERS REPORT ON EXHIBITION WORK

Department of Agriculture Gets Statements From Messrs.
Brandith and McClure
B. C. Fruit in Demand

The department of agriculture has received from Mr. H. McClure Johnson, assistant exhibition commissioner, an interesting account of the exhibition work done by himself and Mr. W. J. Brandith, the exhibition commissioner, in connection with the exhibits shown by the province at the principal fairs of the Dominion during the past summer.

Mr. Johnson found, on the prairie, among those who have borne the severities of its winters for a decade or so, a "hunger for fresh fields and a longing to hie themselves to a more favored country where they can live once more surrounded by the vegetation and fruit growths to which they were accustomed in childhood," and this longing was stimulated, he says, by a view, and perhaps a taste, of British Columbia fruit in Ontario, though they have all the fruit they want, the people found the British Columbia fruit of such high quality that their curiosity was aroused as to the country where, so they hear, money is being made faster than they are making it themselves, and often by men who once lived in Ontario. For these, the timber and the salmon were novelties immensely interesting, and a lively interest was taken in the mineral exhibits.

Work Amongst Immigrants.
Again, much good work was done among newly arrived and still unsettled immigrants. These were alert for any information about any part of Canada, and after a chat with the commissioner and a glimpse of the British Columbia exhibit, it was a common experience to hear them planning a continuance of their journey across the continent and a regret that they had not in the first place booked their passage right through to this province. The report takes up in succession and in full detail most of the fairs visited, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Edmonton, Toronto and Ottawa, and not the least difficult of the commissioners' arduous task was the transporting of their carloads of exhibits from place to place in scheduled time in spite of cars lost for days, breakdowns on the line and other unfortunate occurrences.

At both Winnipeg and Toronto, visits to the British Columbia exhibit were paid by H. R. H. the Governor-General, who spent considerable time in examination of the fruit by touch, taste and smell, and who paid the highest compliments possible to the quality and beautiful coloring of the apples, and to the size of the cherries and other small fruits, of all of which he was graciously pleased to accept baskets in the name of the minister of agriculture.

A full description is given of the site and decoration of the exhibit at Winnipeg, at Brandon, Regina, Edmonton, Toronto and Ottawa, and of the varieties of the produce shown, which, as the summer advanced, included more and more of the fresh fruits of the province. The commissioners noted the suitability or the reverse of the stands rented this year with a view to improving still further exhibits in 1915.

Regina Needs Fruit.
Regina people, of all the residents of the prairie, seem to be the most "fruit starved." They are very busy, are making money fast, are exposed to very severe winters, and so are especially open to the allurements of fruit and a fruit country. But there, as in one other place, objection is taken by the commissioners to the placing of cheap-jack stands in the same building as that which houses the British Columbia exhibit.

It was at Edmonton that the chief difficulty with the railway companies occurred in getting the exhibits into and out of that city, but it was there that the energy and ingenuity of the commissioners rose to their greatest heights in successfully overcoming these obstacles. A special compliment is paid to Edmonton as the most progressive exhibition of the Dominion, both in the nature of their buildings and also in their arrangement, though the British Columbia exhibit was not well suited by the housing it received there, and consequently did not attract the crowds that no doubt were as keen to see it as those in other cities. The wood-pulp exhibit, supplied by the Powell River Mills, was on show in this exhibition for the first time. Here too, a complaint is made of the nuisance of having cheap side shows of jewelry, fountain pens and a "shouting orange-juice man" placed in juxtaposition to a provincial exhibit.

Toronto's Great Show.
Toronto proved the greatest of all the Canadian exhibitions. Two wrecks on the line delayed fresh supplies of fruit that were coming through, but the exhibit attracted enormous crowds out of the $52,000 who passed its gates. Here the Victoria and Vancouver city school exhibits, prepared by Mr. Weston, of Vancouver, were a feature of peculiar interest, and the sides in front of the British Columbia exhibit were crowded from early morning to late at night with many enquiring as to British Columbia, especially among those just arrived from the Old Country. At Toronto, as many people were reached in one day during the whole duration of a show at any of the other cities. Here, in the new government building, the British Columbia exhibit is open to direct comparison with the exhibits from other provinces, from Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. But that British Columbia need not fear such comparison is shown by the awarding to it this year, as in former years, of the gold medal given for the most effective exhibit in the show.

At Ottawa, the liveliest interest was shown in the B. C. exhibit, particularly by the French element from the Quebec side of the river, all being anxious to learn everything that the commissioner could tell them. Here the exhibit showed up to the greatest advantage and gained for the department of agriculture a diploma for the "most artistically arranged exhibit." The authorities stated that they certainly should have awarded it a gold medal if the association had provided for the granting of one. The arrangements of the building were so good that a visit was assured from every one who entered the grounds. Mr. Johnson considers the Ottawa fair one of the best fairs visited this summer, from the viewpoint of the province.

Look for Results.
The commissioners' opinion is that their work ought to be right in results and that Ottawa should be retained, if possible, on the list of fairs to be visited in future years, and that the same location should be again obtained.

In conclusion, Mr. Johnson is of opinion that the British Columbia exhibition work has been unusually successful this year and ought to lead to increased immigration, and to a quickened influx of capital. There is no question, he remarks, of the value of such exhibits on the prairies. The exhibits are of immense educational value as regards this province, and this education alone is needed to swing many to a decision to change to the milder climate of British Columbia.

At both Toronto and Ottawa remarkable opportunities are open to either a country or an individual desiring publicity, and the people there are in an attitude of mind favorable to a change to, or an investment of capital, in the far west.

A special point, which was impressed by the commissioners on the crowds of sightseers, was that the exhibits of fruit and vegetables were primarily there to prove to the prairie or eastern farmer what an ordinary man can grow if he comes to British Columbia, and how he can market it if he studies the examples put before him.

Extending Telephone Service.
VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 25.—Mr. L. A. Palmer, of the Dominion government telephone and telegraph service, states that the telegraph line from Vernon to Penticton will be in operation by the end of the month. Offices will be opened at Vernon, Kelowna, Peachland and Summerland in which the government will have its own operators, and be entirely independent of the Okanagan Telephone Company, which in the past has handled the work. The line crosses the lake at Kelowna by a double cable, and makes use of the old government telephone wires for the service. A new metallic telephone line will be strung between these points, thus making the government service much more efficient.

After the show, supper at the Balmoral Cafe, opposite Victoria Theatre. Orchestra every evening till 12.30.

Range Talks by the Housekeeper

No. 2 Subject "The Oven"

"ONCE convinced that the appearance of a range appeals to our sense of good taste, we want to know all there is to know about the Oven—because the Oven is the important range essential. If it is not a perfect cooker and baker, outward beauty counts for very little.

"The more you look into the 'Kootenay' Oven the more anxious will you be to own a 'Kootenay.' The oven of this beautiful range is made of nickelled sheet steel—one-eighth of an inch thick. I don't know how to explain this nickelled steel but the main thing to remember is that a 'Kootenay' Oven cannot rust—more than that you can wash it out just like an ordinary kitchen dish, and always have a fresh, clean Oven.

"The reasons for the 'Kootenay's' splendid cooking and baking reputation are very plain—The heat flues are broad and deep—surround the entire Oven so that it bakes and cooks evenly. The ventilation is thorough—a roast retains all its rare and generous juices when cooked in it.

"The construction of the Oven of my range was carefully explained to me—shown me—before I bought it. The inner body of the 'Kootenay' is protected with asbestos—the Oven walls cannot burn through over the Oven-top a cast iron frame or guard holds a sheet of asbestos in place, while the bottom is braced with iron bars.

"The thermometer is a great convenience. Plain figures show the exact degree of heat necessary for baking pies, cakes, bread, etc., or roasting meat. No need to open the door—that only cools off the Oven. The thermometer costs a little more, but I wouldn't be without it. Of course there are other splendid features about the 'Kootenay.' All in all, it's the best range I've ever seen."

Do You Feel This Way?

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at night unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your lazy liver to work. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. It will purify your blood. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about a cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy originally prepared by Doctor R.V. Pierce. Medical advice is given free to all who wish to write for same. Great success has come from a wide experience and varied practice.

AMUSEMENTS

Madame Gaski's Visit—As a programme maker, Mme. Gaski, who is to appear at the Victoria theatre on November 8, has few equals. The prima donna takes special pride in the selection of her numbers and lavishes great care on their arrangement. Nor does she believe in confining her rental programmes to the heavy and classical. Such songs as Taubert's "Little Kindler" have always formed a favorite feature, especially the soldier song. The long roll of the drum, the trumpet blast, and the martial glory of the childish pomp, delight the singer as well as the audience. Gaski laughingly accelerated the tempo until her hearers unconsciously beat time to the baby drum. It is doubtful if the prima donna is more thoroughly satisfying in a Wagner aria.

"Butterfly on the Wheel"—The role of the silly little wife who takes the wrong train with a man who is desperately in love, and finds herself alone with him in a hotel in Paris, cut loose from her travelling companion, when she ought to be with the host of her party on the way to Switzerland, gives Miss Dorothy Lane no end of acting opportunity in "A Butterfly on the Wheel," which Messrs. Shubert and Lewis Walter will present at the Victoria theatre, two nights and one matinee, beginning Friday, November 1. A few months later comes the accurate and now famous divorce trial scene. Its aim is to show one little wisp of a woman bullied and cross-examined and racked by a crowd of men. The scene is filled with men. There are men on all sides and of all shades of importance. And there in the witness box stands the defendant, who is asked the usual merciless questions in the usual merciless way. At its close she can see for herself that everything is against her, though she knows that she is innocent. The play comes with the all-English cast of Mr. Lewis Walter's selection, direct from one whole season in New York and the same record in London.

"Bought and Paid For"—In order that the theatre-goers of this city may reap the full benefit of the New York production of George Broadhurst's comedy drama, "Bought and Paid For," which will be presented at the Victoria theatre on Monday and Tuesday, October 28 and 29, under the direction of William A. Brady, Ltd., the cast, which numbers many notable artists who have appeared in the performance during its long and unbroken engagement at the Brady playhouse in New York City, is an excellent one. Therefore it cannot be said that Manager Brady is sending us an inferior company to interpret the characters in this wonderful play of our time. William A. Brady, Ltd., enjoys the proud distinction of having produced two of the most wonderful dramatic successes ever offered in New York City at one time, both of which are rapidly approaching their tenth performance. "When Bunty Pulls the Strings" is one, and the other is "Bought and Paid For."

"The Littlest Rebel"—A. H. Woods' star, Dustin Farnum, in his stirring drama, entitled "The Littlest Rebel," promises to be the centre of interest when this sterling player and his successful play come to the Victoria theatre on Thursday, October 3. The massive production comes intact and is preceded by flattering reports of the great success achieved in the large cities. A feature of the performance is the introduction of a thrilling battle between northern and southern forces just outside a plantation cabin. The wife dies, leaving the little girl alone. Her father, hoping to get her through the Federal lines to Richmond, is trapped by the Unionists in the loft of the cabin, but the little girl pleads so effectively, and her father's plight is so pitiful, that the commanding officer of the squad that has taken him prisoner permits him to escape. There is a skirmish, however, and both captor and captive are betrayed. A court-martial orders that one is to be hanged as a traitor and the other shot as a spy. Again "the littlest rebel," after a visit to General Grant's camp, is instrumental in affecting their release.

The Lady With the Hatchet
Mrs. Pankhurst says the suffragettes will be more militant but will stop short of taking life. But can she control that? The lady who threw the hatchet at Mr. Asquith and hit Mr. Redmond with it is credited with the mild intention of translating Mr. Lloyd George to another sphere. And there may be others.—Montreal Herald.

Aviator's Altitude Record
PARIS, Oct. 25.—The "record" height attained by Lescaud on September 17, is now officially given as 5,450 metres (17,881 feet) instead of 5,720 metres (18,767 feet), and the height reached by Garros on September 6, as 4,900 metres (16,080 feet) instead of 5,000 metres (16,406 feet).

ESTEVAN HAS TRIAL TRIPS

New Lighthouse Tender Leaving Collingwood en Route to Victoria by Way of Magellan Strait

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—The Canadian government steamer Estevan, recently built at Collingwood, has successfully completed her trial trips and will proceed at once via Magellan Strait to British Columbia to engage in the lighthouse service.

The Estevan, which is constructed of steel throughout, is expected to reach Victoria from the yards of the builders at Collingwood in January. She will coal at Montevideo, Punta Arenas, Coronel and Callao en route here. The new lighthouse tender is of 375 tons dead weight, her dimensions being 212 feet over all, and 200 feet between perpendiculars, moulded breadth of 17.6 feet, and 11.6 loaded draught. She has bunker space for 260 tons of coal and steams twelve knots an hour.

The propelling machinery consists of two sets of inverted vertical direct-acting triple-expansion surface-condensing engines, with cylinders 14 in., 23 in. and 36 in. diameter, with 27 in. stroke. The boiler is 13 ft. by 11 ft. with Howden's forced draught, are provided, carrying working pressure of 180 pounds to the square inch. The vessel is lighted by electricity and is equipped with steam steering gear, steam pumps, winches, etc., and is generally well found.

The officers' quarters are well arranged and finished in oak and yellow pine, with decorated ceilings, and, where necessary, tiled floors.

HOW TO SECURE PERMANENCE

ment he would know what he was talking about when the affairs of empire were under discussion. I would insist that he be not allowed to register a single vote until that requirement had been fulfilled.

"Such a course might not be financially possible but at any rate I think it is ideally possible. It is sure a matter of supreme importance that those who are entrusted with the welfare of the empire should know something about it at first hand. There is the tradition against this, of course, that an Englishman can do best the thing he knows about. A French writer discovered this peculiar characteristic and humorously suggested that when they wanted a minister of finance they should appoint their barber, and when they wanted a minister of war they should send for the plumber. On the same line it is recorded that a certain secretary of state for India that on being handed his portfolio the first thing he did was to get a map of India. That is the policy of muddling.

"I am not quite satisfied with the policy of muddling through, the policy which we are following at the present day. We are living in a different series of conditions to those prevailing fifty years ago or more. Take the years of 1830 and 1900, for instance, and compare our altered responsibility. The population of the world has increased enormously. In 1830 it was estimated at eight or nine hundred million, whereas now it is estimated at sixteen hundred million souls. At the former period Great Britain was responsible for about one in seven, but today she is responsible for about one in four, which means that out of the sixteen hundred million souls, Great Britain is now responsible for a fourth. Our responsibility to territory has increased in an even greater ratio. In 1830 we were responsible for about a twenty-fourth part of the world, but now we are responsible for a fourth part.

"I am not speaking anything which might be interpreted as in favor of the aggressive spirit, the spirit which is hostile to any nation or class of people; but I hold that wherever a great people has been entrusted through circumstances or the order of divine providence, it is the clear duty of that people to try and meet the situation. And if we do not accept that responsibility, then we are forsaking our destiny. Therefore, I think that the policy of muddling through, while it may have been fortunate in securing a measure of success in the past, it is not the policy that is going to do the work of today. We want the best minds, the best intelligence and experience of the empire brought together in a consultative body for the maintenance of a homogeneous action throughout the empire.

Council of Imperial Advisers

"Theories of imperial government are all very well, but we want more than theories; we want a council of imperial advisers. John Bull has become very distrustful of theories. There is a tendency to test things by applying them to practical usage. We want to confederate more and more, we want to confederate in a strong and determined way all the scattered remnants of imperial settlements.

"If the British Empire is to continue it becomes of supreme importance that we should develop the moral force of the people. A prominent writer in a recent work on the subject of ancient history gave it as his conclusion that the cause of the decline and fall of Greece and Rome was due to the fact that the moral force of these countries was allowed to become negligible. No nation can afford to neglect that force, and the observance and cultivation of it may lead to heights of achievement not yet realized. And when I speak of moral force, I do not mean the twaddling element of indifference that sits at home while others engage in the struggle, but the sense of duty which

FUTURE OF RANCHING

Scottish-Canadian Cattle Breeder Would Like to See Industry Encouraged on the Prairies

"People are crying out that the price of beef is too high. What is the reason for it?"

Mr. Alexander Mackay, of Dundee, Scotland, whose firm owns thousands of head of cattle in Canada, and a great many more in the United States, asked this question at the Empress hotel last night. One of his answers to it was as follows:

"There are considerable areas in Canada suitable for ranching, but not for farming. Nevertheless, inside these ranching areas spots will be found where farming can be carried on, but the few settlers locating there may spoil the whole district for the rancher. So that considerable areas are, therefore, not utilized for any purpose whatever.

"It seems to me that public policy requires that areas, in the main, good for the production of beef, should be used exclusively for that purpose. In other words, Canada ought to offer as much encouragement to the rancher as it now does to the man who raises wheat."

"Mr. Mackay was of the impression that Canada ought to pay particular attention to the subject for the reason that very large tracts in the Northwest are very well suited to ranching.

"For the first time since I came to Canada," Mr. Mackay concluded, "chilled beef is being imported from Australia. This is especially significant, since Canada might not only produce all the beef it requires, but enlarge its shipments to the old country, where there is always a good demand for Canadian beef."

"What are the conditions likely to make for the permanence and stability of our empire? That is a big question, and it can be discussed from many different points of view. What does constitute, in the long run, the real strength of a great people? Some people think the theory that empires rise, grow, expand, and then weaken and decay just like an individual. What is true of the individual they may say must be equally true of the nation and the empire since it is composed of individuals. I want to say my strong and permanent protest against a theory of that kind. The mass of individuals that constitute a great nation are not liable to the same changes. The race may increase and prosper although the individuals pass on. While I believe in the inevitable end of the individual, I do not believe in the inevitable decline of the nation. Because a tree dies in the forest does it mean that the forest is a condition of decay and will shortly totter to the earth? You see in this country that forests are not so handled as to remain in the most fruitful condition while at the same time they supply the world with timber.

Cause of Decline.

"The reasons for the decline of the Roman, Grecian, and Chinese empires has recently been contributed to by a writer. He is recorded as saying—I will not trouble you with them—all more or less pertinent to the issue. He finally refers to China and states that the day upon which she awakes to a knowledge of her strength she will put herself at the top of European civilization. He showed that they had risen and fallen but he did not show that there was anything inherent in any of them to cause their fall.

"The decline of a nation is always due to the decline of the moral force of the people. That is the statement in history over and over again; and if that is so then the problem that we in the British empire are faced with is that of devising measures for sustaining the moral force at the highest point of vitality. That is the statement that I wish to see undertaken. In part into the people the spirit of self-reliance, which in the last analysis is God-reliance, cultivate it wisely and nothing can ever interfere with the permanence of the nation or the empire. It is a spiritual task. The place of religion must not be overlooked, because it is interwoven with the moral life of the nation." (Applause).

Mrs. H. E. Young proposed a vote of thanks to the bishop, which was passed with acclamation.

FARM WOMEN'S CONGRESS

Mrs. A. T. Watt, of Victoria, is First Vice-President for British Columbia.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Oct. 25.—In response to public demand, the Dry Farming Congress exposition grounds, although officially closed today, will remain open until tomorrow, Saturday, evening, in order to give the visitors an opportunity of further witnessing the various exhibits.

At today's session of the Women's Press Association, which has a membership of fifty-four, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: Mrs. M. L. Bigelow, of The Farm Stock and Home Journal, of Minneapolis, was elected president; Miss Irma Mathews, of the State Agricultural College, Oklahoma, vice-president; and Dr. Ella B. Webb, of The Farmer's Wife, of the same place, secretary. Mrs. A. T. Watt, of Victoria, was elected secretary-treasurer; Miss H. E. Browning, of England, second vice-president, and Miss A. V. Thomas, of The Manitoba Free Press, Miss A. Koppen, of Iowa, representing The Farm and Drovers' Journal, Chicago, and Miss Mabel Senn, of The South Dakota Farmer, are members of the executive committee.

Plans for next year's work were discussed, and it is planned to have a state or provincial auxiliary in Greece and Rome was due to the fact that the moral force of these countries was allowed to become negligible. No nation can afford to neglect that force, and the observance and cultivation of it may lead to heights of achievement not yet realized. And when I speak of moral force, I do not mean the twaddling element of indifference that sits at home while others engage in the struggle, but the sense of duty which

Today Will See the Finish of Our Sale of Costumes

$12.50 Values for $8.50
Here's a Shipment of English
Mackintoshes for Men
THE FAMOUS "FEARLESS BRAND"

FOR style and quality, there isn't another mackintosh on the market that can touch this line at the price; in fact, we can safely say that in our long experience we have never handled a more satisfactory line of coats.

This is a strong statement, but the coats will stand it and a good deal more.

The color is a dark fawn, the sleeves are the plain set in style, have military collars, and the pockets are the side slit style. All sizes from 36 to 46 are to be had.

REGULAR VALUE, $12.50. OUR PRICE
FOR A QUICK SALE, $8.50

DEMONSTRATING THE VALUE OF The "San Juan" Household Cleaner IN THE DRUG DEPARTMENT

This is a new cleaner, manufactured in Victoria and deserves special attention. It is a good policy to support home industries if the products measure up to a standard that deserves our support, and in this case we are satisfied that our confidence and that of our customers is well deserved.

It cleans, scours, polishes and purifies almost anything, but is especially useful for cleaning cooking utensils, pottery of all descriptions, bath tubs and a hundred and one other things that are to be found in every home.

Mrs. Wirtz, the company's demonstrator, will give a series of free lectures that should prove of great interest to all housekeepers and will distribute samples free.

$25.00 and $35.00 Costumes Will Be Sold as Long as They Last Today at $12.50

BUT if today's selling is anything like as brisk as it was on Friday there won't be a single costume left by tonight.

If you see the garments, the reason for this rapid selling will be at once apparent. "It is the quality and style" of the garments that is turning over this line so rapidly, and not the small price.

As a matter of fact, the smallness of the price made it rather difficult for many people to believe it possible that the garments were up to the standard of quality that would please them, but one glance over the garments is sufficient to convince the most skeptical woman that not a single one is worth less than $25.00.

You couldn't buy the materials at the price that the finished costumes are being sold at today.

SOME ARE SMARTLY TAILORED AND OTHERS ARE NEATLY TRIMMED

So that those who shop early will be sure of getting a style that will suit their taste. Tweed effects, serges, whipcords, and Bedford cords are well represented, and the leading colors are blacks, blues, greys, browns and tans.

Almost all sizes are to be had, and we have no hesitation in saying that this is the biggest and best sale of women's costumes that we have held for years, and has the distinct advantage of coming early in the season, giving our patrons more than full value, and practically the whole of the season in which they can enjoy the benefit of their purchases.

200 Eiderdown Comforters
On Sale Today at $6.75

IT is a very long time since we offered such a value so early in the season, and we have every reason to believe that it will be fully appreciated.

In addition to the small price, the exceptionally large variety of colors and patterns that are here to choose from should prove quite an attraction.

They are filled with a good quality of picked down, are well ventilated, and have an effective border effect all round.

Just what is wanted to keep out the cold these wintry nights. A bargain worth an early shopping trip.

Shoes Worth to $4.50 Sell for $2.95—A Bargain List for Men and Women Who Shop Today

HERE is an offer that should mean a distinct saving to many people who want a good pair of winter boots. Every pair is well made and finished, are durable and as comfortable as a shoe at a moderate price can be made.

If we had the slightest doubt about their sterling qualities, we would not have purchased them, and any man or woman who has taken notice of the main features that should enter into the construction of a good shoe, will have no difficulty in seeing that these lines were never intended to be sold at such a small price.

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE LINES FOR MEN

Button Boots are to be had in both black and tan calfskin, in all sizes, and are as stylish as you can wish a shoe to be.

Patent Leather Lace Boots is another pleasing line. Smart in appearance, snug fitting and soundly constructed, are qualities that should make this line sell like the proverbial hot-cake.

Lace Boots, made of a good black calfskin and finished with a leather lining, is a line that should command much attention from men who must have a strong, serviceable and comfortable shoe. Then they are stylish quite good enough for street wear.

LINE THAT SHOULD INTEREST WOMEN

Practically every model that can be classed as stylish and really serviceable is included in this lot, at least all the best lines that can be produced to sell in the regular way at $4.50 are here to choose from.

Why not take advantage of this offer and make a substantial saving?

Patent Leather Boots are here in both the button and lace styles. Your choice from models with either high or low heels.

Gummet Calfskin Button and Lace Boots are lines that should command the attention of women who are compelled to be out when stormy weather prevails. Neat in appearance, but built to serve you well.

Blankets, Flannelette Sheets and Wool Filled Comforters Marked Low

MONEY invested in blankets, flannelette sheets, and comforters of sterling quality, is money well spent. Bedding that gives the greatest satisfaction is that which has the greatest warmth with the least weight, and that's just the reason why the best is the cheapest in the long run.

Heavy bedding is detrimental to your rest, the muscles are constantly strained to support the weight, and you wake up less refreshed than you should be. Good blankets, appropriate sheetings, and light but warm comforters have the opposite and more desirable effect, give you perfect comfort and rest.

In purchasing our stock, we took all these facts into consideration, and have secured a fine line that we are confident will meet all requirements and give you entire satisfaction.

White Wool Blankets. Here are three different classes that are divided into various grades, so you have a nice range to choose from. They range from the light weight cotton mixture up to the thick and fleecy, all-wool lines that are so desirable. Compare the qualities we are now offering with any that you have seen marked at similar prices in the past. Light weight grades range from $5.00 a pair down to $2.00. Medium grades range from $7.50 down to $5.00. Soft and fleecy all-wool blankets range from $10.00 a pair down to..... $5.00

Flannelette Sheets. That this line is finding a ready sale is not the slightest wonder. So soft, pleasant to the touch, light but warm, are qualities that should make this line popular even if the prices were much higher. Here are some fine values well worth investigating: Crib size comes at, per pair, 75¢ and 50¢, 10-4 size at $1.25, 11-4 size at $1.50, and the 12-4 size is a bargain at..... $1.55

Wool-Filled Comforters. Quite a variety of cosy comforters are now waiting for your inspection, and as the prices are moderate, they should prove a temptation to even the most economical woman to add one or more of them to her stock of bedding. They come in beautiful, silklike, satin, or muslin covers, and are filled with fluffy sanitary filling. Choice colorings and designs are here and the prices range from $4.00 down to..... $1.75

Pillow Cases. Your choice from plain or hemstitched styles are here in a variety of qualities. There is a plain hemmed pillow case made from a strong, but soft cotton, that runs at $2.00 a dozen, and a superior line that comes in either the plain or the hemstitched finish, that is a splendid value at $2.50. Better lines made from a good English cambric are marked at only $2.00 a dozen, and at $4.00 there is a very desirable line made of a heavy white cotton that is free from dressing.

Another 100 Suits for Boys Has Just Been Opened Up

AND they are a quality that should meet with the approval of all parents who have to face the problem of keeping an active boy in good clothing.

The general impression is that manufacturers of boys' clothing don't take care with them; just make them from odd lengths and slap them together as best they can in the least possible time.

However, this is not the truth by a long shot. We realize that boys' clothing must be stronger by far than men's if they are to stand the rough wear to which a boy subjects his clothes when he is bent on fun. With this fact in mind, we insisted on having the best to be got.

That this lot will stand the most minute examination, and prove their worth, are facts that cannot be denied; they show quality at every turn.

All are cut in the double breasted style, and you can have them with either bloomer or plain pants. There is a large assortment of colors and patterns to choose from, and all sizes are to be had. You can't wish for better values.

Those Icy Blasts Don't

"This cap is the stiffest resister of Canadian blizzards—it's an Eastern Brand."

"When I don't want the extra protection, I just turn it up inside the cap and wear like any other. It's splendid for winter sports, protecting ears, forehead and back of neck."

"I've found it worth while and safer to ask for Eastern Brand in any kind of cap. They make them in all sensible colors and you can have your choice of their patented knitted band or their Arctic band. Either will be perfectly satisfactory. So different from the old-fashioned fur bands which are often made from factory sweepings and refuse."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Closed Sundays for Barbers

Sir,—It is with some reluctance that I take up the "big stick" in defense of an honorable profession, knowing full well that anything emanating from the mind of one of its craft is always received with much criticism, not only by the patron but also by many of the profession.

I have been a barber for the past twenty years and one of the few who are proud of the profession. The art of modern barbering is as necessary as the baker's loaf of bread, some men can shave themselves, and some wives can bake their own bread. But not many men shave themselves with the same degree of comfort, and delicacy of touch that the average barber shop assures them; nor can every housewife bake a loaf of bread—much less a pan of biscuits—with the same fitness and flavor, for one's stomach and palate, as is given in the modern baker's art.

To be shaved by the barber is both a luxury and a necessity, but I do not believe it is necessary that the barber be compelled to ply his vocation day and night and holidays and Sundays, in order to eke out a livelihood. Mexico, in this respect, has the best law in all the world. All business in that country is required by law to advertise the plain truth, or stand a heavy fine.

The barber puts in more hours and draws less pay than most trades or professions. I hope and trust that all fair-minded people of Victoria will co-operate with the barber in maintaining the Sunday closing law without special privilege for one or two hotel shops.

The barber is human and deserves one day of rest out of seven after serving six days in which not even one evening can be had for recreation.

I am not a union barber, but I believe in the principles as set down in the Barbers' Union for the betterment of their craft and the uplift of their character.

J. H. WELCH.

"The Coludon"

Sir,—I see in your paper of the 25th October, that one of our new Dreadnoughts is to be named "Coludon." May I be permitted to give a little of the interesting history of the ship that had this name in the British navy 115 years ago, and was badly engaged in the battle off Cape St. Vincent on the 14th February, 1780. Nelson, as we all know, in the "Captain" was ship, without orders, and stood directly for the enemy, the "Coludon" followed suit and they stood down slowly and grimly towards the Spanish line of battleships, 27 in number. The British, under Sir John Jervis, had only 15 but they went on to mischief. As the "Coludon," a 74-gun ship, approached one of the largest Spanish ships, 112 guns, the first lieutenant on the forecastle of the "Coludon" called out anxiously to Captain Troubridge of the impending crash. "Can't help it, Captain," replied Troubridge, "let the weakest fend off" and the ship held on her way. In all the "Coludon" approached the three-decker, till through all her ports the crew could be seen at their quarters; then in quick succession two double-shotted broadsides rang out from the "Coludon" fired with terrible precision and regularity "as if by a second's watch and in the presence of a port admiral's inspection." As the cloud of dust cleared away, which this fearful "fire of hell" had sent up from the Spaniard's bow and side, she gave way her crew falling into such dire confusion that they did not even discharge their guns. The Spanish line was broken.

Coludon Point, Jervis Inlet, is named in my book "British Columbia Coast Names," also will be found there, Jervis Inlet, St. Vincent Bay and Troubridge Mountains. This reference looks like egotism but I cannot help it. I feel sure that there are many people now residing in British Columbia who do not realize how closely the names of numerous places on this coast are associated with the British navy and its glory.

Well-known Real Estate Firm Enters Larger Office

In response to the needs of a growing business, the well-known local real estate firm of Traskell, Douglas & Co., Ltd., moved yesterday from the old office at the corner of Troughton Avenue and Broad Street to new and thoroughly modern quarters in the new Challoner & Mitchell Building, at 722 Yates Street, just above Douglas.

The new offices are really beautifully equipped. They are laid out with an eye to facilitate the handling of business, as well as to give the occupants and visitors alike, situated on the ground floor with an ample display window, the new office have a total floor space of some 2,500 feet. On entering, the visitor finds himself in a large space separated from the main portion of the office by an artistic counter, which curves for the length of the room. Seating and rest chairs are provided for the use of visitors. Beyond the counter is the main business office of the firm, of which is located Mr. E. M. Traskell's private office. Located to the rear is a spacious apartment furnished for the use of the firm's salesmen, fitted with telephone booths, improved map racks and other facilities. Off this room are the private offices of Mr. R. W. Douglas and other members of the firm, four in all.

The fittings and furnishings of the new offices are very handsome and are uniform throughout, the wood being oak quartered cut and the finish, light derby. The furniture is of the most modern style, combining system with fine appearance, comfort and durability. The floor covering is thick cork tile, except in the private offices where expensive Turkish rugs are used. An inter-office telephone system has been installed, providing the most modern means of communication between departments. Connection with the main lines of the city is provided by two trunk telephones, Nos. 413 and 417. The firm handles both real estate and insurance.

Look for the Name Yale on Locks and Hardware

There are just two ways of getting through a door guarded by a Yale Padlock: break down the door, or use the key that fits the lock.

If you want a padlock that you can put on guard in the certain knowledge that it will stay on guard, go to the nearest good hardware store and pick out a lock marked with the name Yale. Yale Locks and Hardware sold in Canada are now made in Canada.

Cut Advertising Waste!

Daily Newspaper Advertising is the best for general purposes. There are a score of other good media, all assuring excellent returns. But the orchard improperly cultivated, bears small fruit. Ditto with advertising improperly handled. Victorian advertisers waste hundreds of dollars worth of space daily. We can show you how you may get better results at the same figure you now expend—sometimes less. Ask us.

SCOUTS' FARM

Sir R. Baden-Powell's Recent Visit to Buckhurst Place, Wadhurst—
Speech to Boys

Sir Robert Baden-Powell recently visited the Scouts' Farm, Buckhurst Place, Wadhurst, which is run practically autonomously by the boys themselves as a commonwealth. The chief scout was present at the boys' election of their mayor and patrol leaders, and subsequently witnessed a parade of the fifty odd boys, watched them at physical drill, and inspected their work as farm hands.

Addressing the boys in the field, he said he had been looking at their brother scouts in various parts of the world and had been finding out a lot about farm scouts. He saw no reason why the work so well begun at Buckhurst Place should not come up to any overseas scouts' farm he had seen. Thanks was due to them for the way in which they had tackled the uphill task of last year and the spirit in which they had undertaken the work. When he was in South Africa during the war the South African Constabulary had to make a start on half a sheet of paper! Everything else he had to find for them. The men had to build their own barracks, and the weather was desperately bad. Each man had only one suit of clothes. They worked without any in order to have something dry to put on when they had finished. That was not a brilliant start, perhaps, but they stuck it out, and in the end became the finest force, he believed, in the world for its numbers.

The Scouts' Farm was started nearly a year ago, when Mr. B. Newgass, who was among those present at the proceedings, presented the originators with the freehold of Buckhurst Place, a new, spacious, and handsome mansion, situated on an eminence of many acres of fine pastoral land in one of the most beautiful parts of Sussex. Here the young scouts are given a practical training in every branch of agricultural work, and with it is associated the sound moral and physical training that has come to be synonymous with the scout movement. Thus the boys are grouped in patrols under a leader, and each patrol works a small homestead and assists in the cultivation of a central instruction farm. It is as yet too early to speak of the success of the farm, but, judging by the promising material in evidence, the Scouts' Farm, as Sir R. Baden-Powell has said, "may mean a big step in developing a valuable asset for our nation in the future."

A REMARKABLE COW

Rosalind, a Jersey cow, and her owner, Mr. C. A. Julian-Sharman, were honored by a dinner given at Red Deer last week which was attended by a large number of the prominent agriculturists of Alberta.

Rosalind of Old Basing, to give the lady her full name, has, according to The Red Deer Advertiser, just completed the highest consecutive three years' official test in yield of butter and milk of any cow in the British Empire, and with one exception, and that of another Jersey, has proved herself the best cow in the world. The following are the remarkable figures of her performance:

Highest milk yield in one day 52
Highest milk yield in one month 1,471 1/2
Highest milk yield in one year 15,700

Total in three years 37,847 1/2
Average test, 5.16 per cent.
Butter in one year (highest), 1,021
Butter in three years, total, 2,504.09

The actual returns for butter and milk in three years was $1,007. Besides there was the value of three heifer calves, not known, but $2,000 refused.

The owner, Mr. Julian-Sharman, in returning thanks for the honor paid to Rosalind and himself, remarked that these extraordinary good results were only made possible by the unremitting care of his dairymaid, Mr. J. Jones who, during the three years' test, had hardly missed a milking except when ill; on these occasions he himself had endeavored to take his place with the result that Rosalind's normal milk yield had decreased about fifty per cent.

Farming Below Water

Farming under forty feet of water would seem to be rather difficult. It is both difficult and expensive work, and is done upon a vast scale. There are farms under forty, fifty and even sixty feet of salt water, sometimes more than twenty thousand acres under a single management. These farms do not produce grain, but oysters. They are sometimes more extensive and expensive than the vast grain fields of the west. Oyster grounds have been sold for $700 an acre, all under water. The crop is propagated, seeded, planted, protected, removed, cultivated, matured and harvested all by steam power. Large steamers being employed capable of catching 1200 bushels of oysters per hour from these grounds. These oysters are no longer in the little creeks, estuaries and rivers where natural oysters formerly grew, but are in the great open bays and sounds, where the ground is swept by the ebb, pure current of the salt sea water, and where the products of oysters is always pure and delicious. This is modern culture, which has practically replaced the small, natural oyster fishery.

Public libraries, Lord Rosebery says, may be described as cemeteries for the productions of hundreds of authors—their works stay on the shelves. Cigars are like books in this respect—there are hundreds of brands, but they stay on the shelves of the dealer. The

Why, it's Mrs. Edwards round again—she's always ready to lend a hand with the cooking. That nourishing home-made Irish soup of hers is a real dish-of-all-work—useful in a hundred ways.

It's fine and tasty by itself. It's the secret of a savoury sauce. It's the making of a made dish. And, to bring out the goodness of your own soup and gravies and hashes and meat puddings there's nothing like adding

WORLD'S MODEL ORGANIZATION

By a Foreign Military Observer
In The London Daily Mail.

The "Kaiser manoeuvres" of the German army, which have just taken place in Saxony, left no doubt in the minds of professional observers from abroad that, with exceptions which may be classified as minor, the Kaiser's land forces are perhaps the world's model military organization. Certainly in all that concerns leadership, the handling of large bodies of troops spread over a country—broad, uneven ground, and the other great features of Kriegspiel the operations in Saxony confirmed the impression that the German army is eminently well trained, hard-working and earnest, and that its command is in the hands of capable men.

Actual fighting took place in a triangular area, ninety or one hundred miles long on each side, and in territory ideally suited for manoeuvres. The main landscape feature was the River Elbe, on both sides of which was a wealth of hills, admirably suited for tactical and strategic operations, villages and good roads.

Including a regiment of reserves on the Elbe, roundly, 125,000 troops were employed. A Red invading army, representing a western power, marshalled a force of some 67,000 men, made up as follows:

	Men.
61½ battalions of infantry	43,000
10 machine-gun companies	750
60 batteries of field artillery	9,000
65 squadrons of cavalry	9,500
2 batteries of foot artillery	1,200
4 batteries of horse artillery	600
9 companies of pioneers	1,350
5 division bridge trains	300
3 corps bridge trains	400
Telegraph, telephone, wireless and air-craft troops	1,000
A Blue defending army consisted of, roundly, 55,000 men, made up as follows:

49½ battalions of infantry	34,500
64 squadrons of cavalry	9,500
46 batteries of field artillery	7,200
2 batteries of foot artillery	1,200
8 machine gun companies	600
1 battalion of horse artillery	600
2 batteries of horse artillery	1,200
4 machine gun detachments	150
2 cavalry pioneer detachments	70
Cavalry information detachments	100
Telegraph, telephone, wireless and air-craft troops	1,000

Aircraft successes. The Red invaders were supplied with a powerful airship and a detachment of six or eight aeroplanes. Blue had the Zeppelin III, airship and the same number of flying machines as Red. It may be said at once, that of first-rate order. As far as was ascertainable, disaster overtook only one aeroplane of all the craft engaged. The scouting on both sides was so efficiently done that each army was compelled to resort to an extraordinary amount of night work in order to screen its movements and tactical operations. Night before last it had been brought home so vividly to my mind that the armies of the future will be compelled to march and fight under cover of darkness to a degree hitherto unexperienced in the annals of war.

For far reconnaissance, cavalry and aeroplanes co-operated for the first time in German manoeuvres, a noteworthy step in the effective use of aircraft. There were innumerable occasions when both armies had reliable knowledge of the movements and dispositions of the enemy many hours or even a whole day in advance of what would have been the case if cavalry scouting only had been relied upon. Zeppelin III was omnipresent, literally, and rendered incalculably valuable service to Blue. There seemed hardly a moment during the operations when Zeppelin III was not hovering at a safe altitude over some Red position or returning to its own headquarters with priceless intelligence. Aeroplanes did not limit their work to scouting, but proved great and reliable time-savers in the carrying of communications between far-separated divisions.

Wonderful Endurance. It would be going too far to say that aircraft at the German manoeuvres demonstrated the decreasing usefulness of cavalry. On the contrary, more than ever justified their considerable employment. Infantry however, was an always, the decisive factor. The endurance of the German infantrymen, as demonstrated at these manoeuvres, is nothing short of remarkable. Take this typical instance. At 11 p.m. on the 11th Blue's infantry started on a 21-mile march through the night. They attacked and fought in the morning and throughout the day with varying success. At the end of the day they withdrew for the night, attacked at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 13th, and fought until 11 a.m. For the first time in several series of "Kaiser Manoeuvres" of which I have personal knowledge some foot-sore men were seen, but probably not more than eight or ten out of a whole division. They endured the march and the fighting with the greatest will and with initiative and dash. The increased co-operation of artillery and infantry was noteworthy. The artillery duel of tradition seems to be a thing of the past. Nowhere was there any great concentration of heavy guns for "pounding" purposes exclusively. Instead, single batteries, well up with the infantry line, were conspicuous. There were frequent occasions when artillery would be used to cover an infantry retreat and then deliberately sacrificed to the enemy without any effort to save the guns, the obvious preference being to preserve infantry for fighting purposes. Supply, the least picturesque but in the last analysis the vital constituent of a fighting organism, was revealed afresh as one of the most inconspicuous but most efficient departments of the German army.

Restless Offensive. General von Hansen, Saxon war minister, commanding Blue, and General von Bielew, commanding Red, were both, of course, true to the German dogma of restless offensive, as their leitmotif. All their movements had the offensive primarily in mind. The personnel of the various army corps, divisional, and brigade commanders in German manoeuvres is always of paramount interest, because of the insight afforded into the predilections of the men who will command in war. Wide initiative is permitted them, and there is full play for individual ingenuity. One of the tasks set generals in the present manoeuvres was co-operation with neighboring armies. Both Red and Blue, in addition to actual forces, had "assumed armies" on either flank for the tactical co-operation. A novelty was the appearance in the Elbe of a flotilla of motor-boats, armed with machine guns, intended to harass river crossings. They proved quite ineffective and useless except for transport of machine guns, being far too vulnerable to attacks from troops on the banks.

Another innovation was the employment of auto-ambulances for troop transport. The surprise arrival of a heavy detachment of riflemen, who were rushed up in omnibuses, proved the decisive factor in a tactical engagement—an experience which demonstrated the readiness of cavalry attacking infantry in position. Motor cars, motor cycles and motor trucks were used to an unprecedentedly large degree. River-crossing having played so conspicuous a role in the manoeuvres, it remains to be said that the pioneers worked with marked precision in bridge building, though their operations sometimes were not distinguished for speed.

Death of Princess

SORRENTO, Italy, Oct. 25.—Princess Maria Theresa, Archduchess of Austria-Este died suddenly here yesterday. She was the wife of Prince Ludwig, heir to the throne of Bavaria, whom she married in 1888. Princess Maria Theresa was born in 1849.

Manslaughter Verdict

NELSON, B. C., Oct. 25.—"Guilty of manslaughter," was the verdict brought in by the jury last night in the Albert P. Balsom murder trial, after deliberations lasting three hours and thirty-seven minutes. Sentence is reserved.

FIRM IN RESOLVE TO DEFEAT HOME RULE

Lord Londonderry Gives His Impressions of Ulster's Attitude—No Faint Hearts Among the Unionists

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—The Marquis of Londonderry, one of the Unionist leaders, gives some of his impressions of conditions in Ulster. He recently attended the anti-home rule demonstration in Belfast, and says: "My acquaintance with Ireland and Ulster goes back many years. I can remember the time when, as member for Down, I found opinion divided about it. It is now in England. We were Conservatives and Liberals, as our views on public questions tended. No one regarded home rule as a subject of controversy.

"I recall that period, since its memory gives my first impression of Ulster today the greater emphasis. Now, under the impending danger of home rule, the differences of opinion which divided us have vanished. My former political opponents are now my colleagues in this fight. We lunched at the Ulster Reform Club. At one time it was the headquarters of the Liberal Party in Ulster. Today its members are as much opposed to home rule as any Conservative.

Unanimity of Opinion
"Unanimity of opinion—that is the first and foremost impression, and those who, like myself, can claim a long association with Ulster know how great a change the Home Rule Bill has brought about.

"There are no faint hearts; no Mr. Facing-both-ways in Unionist Ulster. The movement against home rule is the opposition of a people. Men of every class, of every walk in life, are equally hostile. It is not opposition proceeding originally from a few leaders who, by organization, have given it an outwardly democratic expression.

It is not a disorganized outbreak of irresponsibility. Within it are merchants, leaders of industry and commerce, and workers in factory, shop and shipyard. Men of brains and men of muscle. The landowner, the farmer and the laborer. The peasant from the wilds of the Hebrides, the farmer from the glens of Antrim, the dwellers on the land, of rugged look and simple views of life. The skilled mechanic, the worker of modern process, using every appliance that invention, machinery, and electrical power offers to rapid and efficient manufacture. Vastly different are their lives, yet they are bound together by ties of affection for their country and determination never to submit to home rule.

"I was struck by a comparison of the processions at the country demonstrations and in Belfast. Seriousness of purpose, firm resolve on every face; but the types entirely different. Men Marched Miles
"At Portadown I saw men who had marched miles from the countryside to greet their leader. They wore the staid dress of the village and the farm. Their clothes, their walk, their speech told of lives spent away from the din of cities, in ignorance of the seamy side of politics. Men of simple faith and deep conviction. Not reckless, but fighting counted the cost, ready to sacrifice all to preserve unimpaired religious freedom and civil liberty. The faith of their fathers meant much to them. From father to son, from generation to generation, the plain religious truths had been handed down, and repeated Sunday after Sunday in a thousand little churches and chapels on the hills and in the valleys. We did not smile at the old man who carried his Bible in the procession. It was his most cherished possession. It was the outward sign of what he was willing to fight for. Let no man underestimate what it meant. They marched at early dawn, many of them, and could not return until midnight, for a momentary glimpse of their leader. It was the outward sign of what he was their profession of faith to show him by their presence; that he could rely upon them in the hour of need.

"Not for them are the clauses of the bill, the amendment in committee, the niceties of language, the professions of toleration and regard, the dissensions of ministers. Irish history, with the dark pages of rebellion and massacre, is as real to them today as it was to those who lived through the time of the disturbance. Less have their thoughts been turned to other channels; the strenuousness of modern life which forgets by tomorrow has not invaded their homes. They remember, and remembering what home rulers have said and done they say: 'We will not have it.'

Firm Resolve

"They are impervious to jeers and sneers; pitiless to jests they unmoved. Home rulers may laugh at them, even despise them, but simple faith and firm resolve will battle without cleverness and ingenuity without conviction. "I could not watch—I am sure no man could—these men filing past and saluting Sir Edward Carson, without feeling that here indeed were men who made no decision lightly, but, having made it, would uphold it whatever it cost.

"From the countryside to Belfast. How great the change, and yet no change at all. The type had altered, but the same resolve was there: 'No home rule.' In Belfast every phase of the controversy is known. The wranglings of ministers, the professions of home rulers, the provisions of the Bill, its realties, are read and understood. A Belfast audience responds to the slightest touch. A happy phrase, an appropriate epithet, a skilful reference—and a roar of applause follows. And yet among these hard-headed workers there is room for sentiment. Over the audience at the Ulster hall there swept a wave of emotion as the old flag was produced which was carried before King William over two hundred years ago at the battle of the Boyne.

"Later, I watched the great crowd waiting for the city hall to open. There the Covenant was to be signed, and as the doors swung back, again without jostling or noise, the head of the long queue passed in and there began the continuous procession of Ulster men which only ceased for that way with the closing of the hall as midnight struck.

From Every Walk in Life

"I watched them streaming in—men in every walk of life—and if I had been a stranger I should have marvelled at the sight. I felt that no man was signing the Covenant who did not mean to keep it, who did not understand what it meant, and I felt too that home rule was lifted out of the arena of political controversy into the higher and more serious plane of great questions which before now have involved nations in war.

"Grave indeed will be the error of the government if they affect to believe that Ulster opposition to home rule is but the attitude of political opponents to the measure of a government. It is not. It is the uprising of a community. Of course, misrepresentation is easy. In these days, when political opposition is not pressed to its conclusion, resolution and determination are uncommon quantities. The dramatic is always the food of scoffers, and we are unaccustomed to resolutions. They talk of organization, but the best organizer cannot produce success unless he has popular support. He can guide enthusiasm for a cause into one channel, but he cannot make men put themselves to trouble and inconvenience if they are without deep feeling. No man organized the vast gathering which collected in the streets to speed Sir Edward Carson's departure. The continuous cheers, the never-dying acclamations and surging of the people even to shake their leader by the hand, and yet the perfect order, without police control, could not but leave the unchallenged impression that here indeed was evidence of determination and resolution. It was summed up in three words: No home rule.

"We left Belfast with the cheers ringing in our ears, and as we left, the last message of Ulster came to us from the hills on both sides of the loch. The bonfires blazed their farewell, and now and again came the sound of distant cheering from some solitary group on the shore. As we passed out into the open sea, a single torch waved a farewell signal, no home rule, from some dweller in a lonely house on the shore."

GUIDE TO THE WAR

Old Serbia is a district of European Turkey near the Serbian frontier. Many years ago it belonged to the Serbian Empire, and Serbian is the tongue chiefly spoken.

ARITHMETICAL PRODIGY

"Lightning Calculations" by a Boy of Sixteen Years of Age

A remarkable demonstration of mental calculating has been given at a meeting of the Ceylon branch of the Royal Asiatic society at Colombo by Arumokim, a 16-year-old arithmetical prodigy.

Arumokim is a Tamil boy belonging to a working-class family. He is quite illiterate and displays but little intelligence outside his faculty for calculating. He has five fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot. Sir Hugh Clifford, colonial secretary for Ceylon, presided at the meeting, and a number of problems in arithmetic were put to the boy through an interpreter. In each case (says The Ceylon Morning Leader) he gave an answer in a few seconds.

Among the questions were the following:

Add together $596,713,826 and 98,268,693.

Multiply 45,989 by 844,726.

Find the fifth root of 69,342,957.

What weight of water is there in a room flooded 2 ft deep, the room being 18 ft. 9 in. by 13 ft. 4 in., and a cubic foot of water weighing 62 1/2 pounds.

The following problem, put by a member of the audience, was answered in under three seconds: A Chetty gave as a treat to 173 persons a bushel of rice each; each bushel contained 3,431,272 grains, and the Chetty stipulated that 17 per cent should be given to the temple. How many grains did the temple get?

He was sleeping in the precincts of a temple when "accidents" appeared to him and wrote "something on his tongue." The next morning he found that he could work out complicated sums with ease. Business firms have employed him to put intricate accounts right.

Mr. Arunachalam said that the boy does his mental calculations by "very short cuts." He added: "Take a simple sum of multiplication, say, of 2,555 by 3,437. He would take one of the factors as 2,500 or 2,600, and with a remainder 55. The other factor he would take as 3,500 or 3,400, less 63. He would multiply 2 1/2 thousand by 3 1/2 thousand, and then make the necessary addition for the remainder 55 of the factor and the necessary subtraction for the difference 63, and declare the result in the twinkling of an eye."

Why Coquitlam Is Getting the Industries

When members of the Vancouver Council and of the Vancouver Board of Trade visited Coquitlam the other day as guests of the council of that municipality, they learned something that amazed them—something that explained the strong tendency of new industries to locate at Coquitlam.

They found that the Coquitlam Terminal Company had reserved from speculation and for industrial use the whole waterfront—two miles long—and also two miles of industrial trackage, which means four miles of trackage frontage. They found that the Company was spending thirty thousand dollars on the finest industrial railway layout west of Winnipeg, and ten thousand dollars more on the harbor survey, all of which costs the manufacturer who locates in Coquitlam not one cent directly or indirectly, because the industrial sites are all sold by the Coquitlam Terminal Company to actual users at the cost of the land to the Company.

Coquitlam, in respect to natural advantages, railway advantages, commercial advantages and the attitude of the towns-site owners and the public authorities, presents to manufacturers who are now coming to the Vancouver District, advantages that cannot be excelled or even equalled by any portion of the Vancouver Metropolitan District.

The Coquitlam Terminal Company welcomes enquiry relative to industrial sites at Coquitlam, and guarantees liberal terms and most substantial encouragement to industries proposing to locate at Coquitlam, including assistance in financing where required. The industrial investor in Coquitlam will find that he is not exposed to the mercy of "real estate sharks" and "tourist brokers." On the contrary, he will deal with a powerful corporation, conducted on the broadest lines of fair dealing, a corporation that owns the townsite, and so controls the situation that it can take care of any prospective industry, whatever its requirements, whether one industrial lot or a hundred acres—all level; trackage or waterfrontage, or both—thrown in.

The particular and careful attention of the manager of the Coquitlam Terminal Company will be given to every person or corporation desiring to investigate the merits of Coquitlam as a manufacturing location.

SUFFERED AGONY FROM DYSPEPSIA

FRUIT-A-TIVES MAKES WONDERFUL CURE

N. C. STIRLING, ESQ.

GLENOBE, ONT., Aug. 15th, 1911. "So much has been said and written about 'Fruit-a-tives' that it might seem unnecessary for me to add my experience. But 'Fruit-a-tives' were so beneficial to me when I suffered from dyspepsia, that I feel impelled upon to inform you of the remarkable and satisfactory results I have had from using them. Dyspepsia and indigestion as everyone knows, can give you more uncomfortable hours and days than most of our complaints. I am glad to be able to say to you that although in the past I suffered from dyspepsia, I am now in perfect health. 'Fruit-a-tives' accomplished the desired result, and I have to thank them for my very favorable and satisfactory state of health."

N. C. STIRLING. Why don't you try 'Fruit-a-tives'? A box, 6 for $2.50, trial also, 25c. In all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

WHAT GERMANY'S MEAT FAMINE MEANS

Government Has Decided to Have Recourse to Number of Temporary Expedients—A Double Problem

Press cables during the past few days have recorded the latest developments arising out of the extraordinary meat famine in Germany, it being related in several instances that women stormed the butcher shops and raided the premises. Some light is thrown on the situation by the following, which appeared in a recent issue of The London Standard from a Berlin correspondent: An interesting statement of policy is contained in the announcement of the measures by which the government proposes to mitigate the meat famine in this country. It is admitted at the outset that the prices of fresh foods have attained a critical level, and that the diminished quantities of live stock offered at the cattle markets also justify uneasiness; but these phenomena are attributed in the main to the recent prevalence of foot-and-mouth disease and the failure of last year's fodder harvest, and it is argued that they are not calculated to shake confidence in Germany's ability to supply her own requirements in this direction.

"Consequently," continues the official statement, "it was necessary to avoid steps that might seriously have imperilled this aim, which, not only in the interests of our agriculture, but also in the interests of our readiness for war, must be the object of our unflagging efforts."

Starting from these premises, the Prussian Government has decided to double its internal agreement with the other States of the Union, which may be expected to follow suit—to have recourse to a number of temporary expedients for dealing with the immediate crisis, and to seek a permanent government of meat famines in the stimulation of domestic stock-breeding.

"To encourage this," it is stated, "with all our energies by an increased provision of male animals for breeding purposes, extended cultivation of fodder, laying down of pastures, but above all by the promotion of land amelioration, internal colonization, and reclamation of our wide tracts of moor and waste ground, will be our most important task in the coming years."

It would appear from this that it is now the fixed determination of the government to attempt a solution of the double problem of employing and feeding the continual increments of the German population rather than on the three and a half million acres of land which is at present lying unproductive in various parts of the country than in the million square miles of undeveloped colonies that the empire possesses.

Another interesting feature of the government proposals is the encouragement they afford to private enterprise would not have been tempted by the prospects of a trade in beef and fixed duration, and the municipal purchase and sale of meat has the further advantage of eliminating the middleman's profits but it is with the express object of "promoting the co-operation of the local authorities in the supply of meat" that a bill amending the Customs Tariff Law is to be submitted to the Reichstag. The measure will empower the federal council to reduce the duty on meat imported by such bodies on their own account "for disposal to consumers at reasonable prices." It is proposed that the special rate shall be eighteen marks per double centner, which is approximately equivalent to one penny per English pound. The lowest current rates as fixed by the committee are about 1 1/2d. and 1 3/4d. according to the country of origin. This reduction is planned to remain in force till March 31, 1914, but to have retrospective validity from Tuesday next.

Significantly, it is only the local authorities, public organizations, and employers of labor desirous of supplying their workmen direct, at or below cost prices, who will have the benefit of the reduction, which is contemplated in the railway charges on live stock and meat. The latter commodity is already carried at special rates, and these are to be cut down 10 per cent. in the case of live stock, but a reduction of 10 per cent will be made. The government reserves to itself the right of co-operation in the fixing of prices of meat imported alive or dead under these conditions. The obtaining special railway rates on sea fish when it is conveyed inland on the order of local authorities or public organization will remain in force till the end of 1913, and up to September 30 next, feeding barley and maize will be carried for about half the present charges on condition that the benefit goes to the stock-raisers.

Partial Concessions. Another series of ameliorative measures allows the importation of live stock or meat from Russia, Servia, Roumania, Belgium and the Netherlands, but only when the consignments are conveyed in sealed vans to leading market towns. Moreover, special permission to import will be necessary in such case. These concessions will no doubt do something to relieve the situation, but they ignore the general demand put forward by many others, the united municipalities of Greater Berlin, that the Meat Inspection Law should be amended to allow the importation of frozen carcasses from America. It will have been noticed that the government admits, by implication, that this statute really aims at the exclusion, not of disease, but of meat itself, and has as its ulterior object Germany's readiness for war. In fact, it is in this sense that the law is being applied to the meat famine.

ly have dared to do by the direct method of an absolutely prohibitive tariff.

MOTHER LODE SUIT

Commission Claim Is Heard Before the Supreme Court of Canada

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—In the supreme court the appeal in Ruthacuff v. Black was heard. The dispute is in respect of an agreement as to remuneration to be paid to the appellants on a sale of the "Mother Lode Group" of mineral claims in the Salmo-Kootenay district in B. C. They claimed $35,000 as their commission, but succeeded in getting only $5,000 at the trial court. The court of appeals of B. C. affirmed this decision. Justice Irving dissenting, and considering the appellants entitled to $15,000. The arguments were not concluded at the time court adjourned.

"DEFAMATORY LIBEL"

Jury Unable to Agree in Suit Against Vancouver German Publication

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 25.—After an absence of nearly three hours the assize jury empaneled in the case brought against Mr. G. Scumacher and Mr. F. L. Blodder by Mr. Alvo von Alvensleben, reported to Mr. Justice Clements that it was unable to agree. The law provided that no one was guilty of an offence simply by publishing any defamatory matter which he believed to be true and for the purpose of benefit under certain circumstances, but there was the question of relevancy to consider, and, if the material published was relevant, there was still the further question of a belief in its truth. That belief must be founded on reasonable grounds.

VANCOUVER REAL ESTATE

Property on Corner of Granville and Hastings Street, Sells for $5,575 per Front Foot

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 25.—For five lots on the northeast corner of Hastings and Granville streets, the Royal Bank of Canada has paid a sum that amounts to $5,575 a front foot, said to be the highest amount ever paid for a front foot of Vancouver property. The deal, which has just been consummated, has been made with Mr. Harvey Hadden, of London, who sold the property to the Royal Bank for $725,000. It is the intention of the Royal Bank to erect a modern office building at least ten stories in height on the property, the work of construction to be started in 1914. The main office of the bank will occupy the ground floor. The delay in starting construction is necessitated by the fact that part of the property is now occupied by Henry Birks & Sons, Ltd., who have a lease that does not expire until May, 1914. Mr. C. A. Crobie, general superintendent of British Columbia for the Bank of Canada, said yesterday that the business has made the present premises too small.

CANADA BY STATISTICS

Royal Commission to Submit Full Report by December 1

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—The report of the committee recently created to investigate into the statistical compilation throughout the Dominion will be in the hands of the government on December 1. The committee consists of R. Griggs, Professor Adam Shortt, and B. H. Crozier, and the investigations of the committee have extended throughout the Dominion. The committee was required to report about a month ago, but owing to the complicated nature of the investigation it was found impossible to submit a full report before December.

FIRE IN CITADEL

Maltese Troops Spend Two Hours in Fighting Flames

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 25.—For two hours last night troops in the citadel at Halifax fought a fire that broke out in the fortress at 9 o'clock. The flames illuminated the sky and for a time it looked like a big conflagration. The soldiers were able to confine the flames to the carpenter and repair shops where the fire started.

EARTH TREMOR FELT

Shock Badly Frightens Residents on North Side of St. Lawrence

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—News has been received here that a severe earthquake shock was felt between Bersimis and Pentecost, on the north shore of the St. Lawrence on Wednesday. No fatalities are reported, but several houses were badly shaken and all the residents between both places were badly frightened.

IMPERIAL DEFENCE

Naval Question on Pacific Ocean Interesting New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Oct. 25.—The New Zealand government, sending Hon. Mr. Allen, minister of finance and defence, to London early next year. His mission, it is said, is chiefly financial, but he will also consult with the committee of imperial defence regarding the naval question on the Pacific Ocean.

PUBLIC SERVICE BILL

Measure to Do Away With Political Patronage in New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Oct. 25.—The New Zealand public service bill has now passed both houses. The aim of the measure is to free the public service from political interference and destroy patronage.

Dramatic Fire in Chicago

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 25.—More than 500 patrons of the Morrison hotel and Hotel Valley fled to the street while flames quenched the flames in the employees' annex of the Morrison on Wednesday night. Three women and one man, screaming on a fire escape, were rescued by a policeman. Ad. Wolcott, the pugilist and his wife, were among those who fled from the smoke-filled upper stories. It was an hour before the fire was under control. The loss was about $25,000.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR IMMIGRATION URGED

Chairman of Grand Trunk Railway Says Canada Requires More Labor and Capital to Meet Country's Demands

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Chairman Smithers, presiding at the Grand Trunk Railway meeting yesterday, had some earnest remarks to deliver to the immigration authorities, and also to workers already established in the Dominion.

"Canada requires more capital," he declared, "but much more she requires additional labor. It seems regrettable that the question of emigration has not been taken up by the British government. I am certain machinery could be devised for the transfer of British labor to Canada with excellent results."

"There is a passing danger from speculation in land," he went on, "but nothing will stop or permanently affect the progress of Canada so long as she procures from the earth at the existing rate and sells at present prices. I would urge on the Dominion and provincial governments the necessity of encouraging immigration. The idea among many of the laboring population of Canada that increased immigration will depreciate their wages is within very wide limits utterly groundless."

Speaking about the difficulty of getting men for construction, Mr. Smithers said: "Towns are springing up all along the line rapidly, and men who have been receiving $3 a day become disappointed. Canada as a whole was prosperous, but Canada could only continue to prosper with abundance of labor."

Chairman Smithers also paid tribute to President Hays, who presided the same week as the last semi-annual meeting was held. During the seventeen years Mr. Hays was connected with the company the value of its property increased over $20,000,000.

CARLETON VACANCY

Alderman W. W. Garland, of Ottawa, Chosen as Conservative Candidate

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 25.—Alderman W. W. Garland, of Ottawa, was the choice of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the county of Carleton, which met in convention at Stittville yesterday to appoint a successor to contest the riding for the federal seat made vacant by the death of Edward Kild, M. P. It is likely the nomination will mean acclamation because the Liberals have not yet held a convention or signified intention of placing a candidate in the field.

VISCOUNT PEEL

Death of Former Speaker of British House of Commons

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Viscount Peel, who was speaker of the House of Commons from 1884 to 1895, died yesterday at the age of 81. He was created a viscount on his retirement from the speakership.

Jury Disagrees

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 25.—In connection with the death of James Francis Gray, on October 7, the jury in the case of Richard Toynbe, who was arraigned on a charge of manslaughter in the assassin's death, disagreed after a recess of nearly two hours.

Newly Elected Bishops

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—Archdeacon Edward Robins, of Athabasca, and Ven. Rev. J. J. Lucas, of MacKenzie River, were yesterday elected bishops of the dioceses of Athabasca and MacKenzie River respectively at a meeting of bishops of the ecclesiastical province of Rupertland held in St. John's school.

Train Wreck in Maine

FELLMORE, Ill., Oct. 25.—A negro porter was killed and three of the train crew were injured yesterday when a special train carrying officials of the Toledo, St. Louis and Western Railroad was wrecked. The baggage car, two day coaches and a Pullman car were involved in a ravine when the bridge collapsed.

Before the show, dine at Balmoral Cafe, opposite Victoria Hotel. Orchestra every evening till 12.30.

CURE CATARRH AT HOME

A Practical Remedy So Simple and Pleasant That Even a Child Can Use It.

A neglected cold lays the foundation for catarrh; neglected catarrh lays the foundation for consumption. Dr. Blosser's Catarrh Remedy will break up the cold, or cure the catarrh and prevent consumption.

The symptoms of catarrh are a discharge, which is either blown from the nose or runs back and drops into the throat; a dull headache; a stopped-up feeling in the nose and head; extreme liability to take cold, etc. These conditions often lead to noises in the head, deafness, sore throat, bronchitis, asthma, indigestion and consumption.

If you suffer from any of the above troubles you should begin the proper treatment at once.

Dr. Blosser's Catarrh Remedy is the best remedy known to medical science for these diseases. It cures 95 out of every 100 cases.

Dr. Blosser's Catarrh Remedy is in order to demonstrate its virtues, a five days' trial treatment will be mailed absolutely free to any interested sufferer. How You Win with Cash

THE money-making faculty will not prevail if there is not behind it the money-saving instinct.

You must buy for cash if you would always have cash. Credit is expensive. Every credit store gives a cash discount to cash buyers, but that discount does not equal the net price of the one-price and cash-only store. We know.

The credit buyer is kept poor because he is always paying more for his clothes than he who pays cash. In one year, his excess fine for credit buying would buy him another suit.
